The Terrible Towel

TM

If you have ever been to a Steelers game, at home or on the road, you have seen its beauty waving in the wind, whipping around with excitement, firing up a team and a fanbase like nothing else can.

It's magical. It's mystical. Quite simply, it's a thing of beauty. It's the Terrible Towel. A symbol of Steelers Nation.

And now, it's 50 years old.

THE TERRIBLE TOWEL IS POISED TO STRIKE

BY TERESA VARLEY | STEELERS.COM

'The Terrible Towel is not an instrument of witchcraft. It is not a hex on the enemy. The towel is a positive force that lifts the Steelers to magnificent heights and poses mysterious difficulties for the Steelers' opponents only if need be.

'Many have told me the Terrible Towel brought them good fortune, but I can't guarantee that sort of thing because the Steelers, after all, are the Towels' primary concern.

'Still, at the least, the symbol of the Terrible Towel will serve as a memento of your having been a part of the Steelers Dynasty and if it causes good things to happen to you, so much the better.'

— Myron Cope,
creator of the Terrible Towel

"For Steelers fans, the Terrible Towel is a love affair," said running back Jerome Bettis, who waved a Terrible Towel during his Hall of Fame enshrinement speech in 2015. "It's truly a love affair. The Terrible Towel is a part of our DNA. It's just as valuable as our helmet. That's what it means to us. As players, we respond to it when the fans wave it, and we appreciate the Terrible Towel. We love it.

"When we saw the towel waving, it meant it was game time. It's on. When you saw it going, you knew it was game time in Pittsburgh, and anywhere on the road, and we had to go to work. Every stadium we went into, and the team still goes to, you see the towels waving. That was our battle cry.

WTAE-TV and Radio personality, who created the sensation with a mere plea to Steelers fans after a meeting with Ted Atkins, who was the general manager at WTAE Radio at the time and thought they could use a gimmick to help boost ratings.

"The first thing Myron came up with was any rag, a wash rag, dish towel, a towel, or anything that you could wave," shared Joe Gordon, the former Steelers director of public relations. "When he first started, it was any towel, a rag, a wash rag, dish rag. Whatever you wanted to bring. And he didn't actually say it had to be yellow or black, just anything. But then obviously, once it took hold, the colors moved in."

Before it took hold, Cope took the idea into the Steelers locker room, sharing his thoughts with the players for the new idea.

They didn't exactly embrace it.

"When he took it into the dressing room to talk to players about it, Andy Russell said we're not a gimmick team," said Gordon. "I don't like the idea.

"Nothing could deter Myron once he decided he was going to do something. So, the next game was a playoff game with the Colts. And in that game, Andy Russell returned an interception for a touchdown. Myron jumped on this, saying he was sped away by the Terrible Towel on his rear end. So that was the start of it, and then it just grew from there. From a gimmick, it became something that was international."

AP/Tom E. Fuskar

"When you see the Terrible Towels waving, you know the fans are supporting you."

All good things start with an idea, one some like, and others scoff at.

That was exactly the case when the Terrible Towel came into being.

It was the late Myron Cope, the legendary Steelers color commentator and beloved

It was Dec. 27, 1975, a divisional playoff game against the Baltimore Colts at Three Rivers Stadium when the Terrible Towel made its debut. And at that time, yes, it was dish towels, bathroom towels, whatever people had that were either black or gold they could wave.

And it appeared to work, as the Steelers defeated the Colts, 28-10, to advance to the AFC Championship game and eventually win Super Bowl X.

"I remember Myron Cope polling the locker room and asking all of us what we thought about a towel, and it being called a Terrible Towel," said Hall of Fame cornerback Mel Blount, who played on the Steelers four Super Bowl teams in the 1970s. "I remember Andy Russell telling the story about Myron coming to him, and Andy would say, 'Myron, what are you talking about?' Andy was saying that it didn't make sense.

"And now here we are, as far as an NFL franchise, that's one of the things we're known for, the Terrible Towel. It was a stroke of genius, along with a lot of luck. When people talk about the Steelers and the Steelers fans, they can't talk about them without mentioning the Terrible Towels. So, it's pretty special."

While the Terrible Towel got off and running during the postseason in 1975, it was a divisional playoff game in 1978 when it truly exploded as it was a weapon that was strictly utilized in the postseason in the 1970s.

The Steelers were taking on the Denver Broncos on Dec. 30, 1978, at Three Rivers Stadium. During the pregame, Cope was hyping the resurgence of the towel, something he was convinced would benefit the team in the same manner it did in 1975 when the team won their second Super Bowl.

"So, the Steelers go in with plenty of offense and lots of defense, and it takes us back to those '74 and '75 teams," said Cope during the pregame broadcast. "Plus, the Steelers have the Terrible Towel going for them. Yep, this year we've had a revival of the Terrible Towel. It carried the Steelers all the way in '75. It imputes great strength for the Steelers, and if need be, poses mysterious difficulties for the enemy. You'll see thousands upon thousands of Terrible Towels waving out in those stands today.

There was one person in particular with a Terrible Towel who sent the home crowd into a frenzy.

Lynn Swann.

As Swann stood on the field waiting for pregame introductions, he had a towel in his hand. He didn't know yet what he planned to do with it, he simply knew he wanted it nearby.

And then, he knew. He started to wave it. And he wasn't alone.

"I had that towel in my hand, and they were introducing the offense, and I was just flicking the towel on my leg in kind of a nervous habit," said Swann. "They're getting ready to introduce me and I had the towel, and I saw people just kind of standing up and the whole deal. So, I started waving the towel, just twirling it around over my head. All of a sudden everybody in the stadium was standing up waving that Terrible Towel.

"I ran out on the field, and I remember jumping up in the air and all of a sudden the excitement of playoff football hit. And we were ready to play this football game."

"Myron Cope came to me years later and thanked me. He said that was the beginning of the Terrible Towel. He said the fact that I came out and waved the Terrible Towel and got the fans going, that was the beginning of the Terrible Towel being a symbol for the Pittsburgh Steelers as we traveled around and played in other cities."

While the towel started with fans simply bringing something out of their own closet to wave, it grew into something much larger. An official Terrible Towel was released in the late 1970s, and it instantly became a staple in the home of every Steelers fan.

As sales were increasing, Cope wanted to do something special. He wanted the towel to benefit others.

It was in 1996 that Cope arranged for the royalties from the sale of the Terrible Towel to go to Merakey Allegheny Valley School (AVS), to benefit individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities who are supported by AVS, including his own son, Danny, who had been enrolled there for years. With items that reach far beyond the towel itself, the school has received over $9.5 million from officially licensed products, used for supplies, services and improvements to the facility.

Among the projects the funds have benefitted is opening a new Merakey AVS school, as well as new roofs at many Merakey AVS homes and campuses, outside renovations on patios and decks, inside renovations in kitchens and bathrooms and much more.

"The Terrible Towel is unique," said Roni Erath, Sr. Regional Executive Director for Merakey AVS. "Not just the size of the donations and what we're able to rely on year after year, but also the tie to the Pittsburgh community and to our mission and the importance of our mission to Myron Cope.

"Being tied to the Terrible Towel in such a way that not only benefits us financially, but it really ties us to the overall Pittsburgh community. This entire region is tied to the Terrible Towel. The legacy of Myron Cope and the Steelers is unmatched anywhere and truly throughout the world. You hear about Steelers fans, and we see Terrible Towels waving all over the world, so it really is an honor for us to be the beneficiary of such an important item.

"I don't even know how to begin to frame how thankful and grateful we are that we can continue our mission because of donations like we get from the Terrible Towel. Being able to enhance our programs and enhance the lives of the individuals that we care for is truly a privilege and there is no place on earth like the Pittsburgh region, the Steelers and the legacy that's included in all of that really benefits us every day."

While the Terrible Towel will forever be at its best in the postseason, there is never a bad time to put its magic to work. Whether it's the preseason, regular season or postseason, seeing the Terrible Towel waving in the stands brings energy and excitement to the crowd, and equally to players throughout the years.

"It gave you a sense of confidence that the fans are here, our family is here," said former running back Willie Parker. "Even though your immediate family might not have been at the game, as long as you saw those Terrible Towels twirling, it was like our family was there. It's time to go perform. It's time to put out for our city.

"When we played at home the towels were there. When we played on the road, the towels were there. We would go out on the field and see the towels, and we would think it's like a home game. Opposing teams tried to keep the Terrible Towel away from their stadium, they tried to not sell tickets to people with '412' area code. But they couldn't keep them away. Home or away, you would see that Terrible Towel twirling. It's something you always cherished playing for the Steelers."

James Farrior spent five seasons with the New York Jets before signing with the Steelers as an unrestricted free agent in 2002. He knew what it was like to play against the Steelers at home with the towel twirling and was thrilled when he found himself on the other side of it.

"I love still seeing the towel go when I come back for games," said Farrior. "We knew every time we saw the towels waving we had the support of Steelers Nation. We knew we had fans behind us, wanting us to win, wanting us to make big plays.

"The Terrible Towel is part of the culture of the Steelers organization. We tried to live up to that and do the best we could to make all those fans waving the towel happy and make them proud."

There are teams who have tried to duplicate the magic of the Terrible Towel, handing out their version to fans when the Steelers have played at their venues.

But no matter what, a sea of gold always prevails because while some teams have to hand out towels as a giveaway to their fans, Steelers fans own Terrible Towels, most fans owning multiple ones, and they never leave home without them.

"It's really unique and special," said former tight end Heath Miller. "When the Steelers host home playoff games and you see the excitement of the city and then walk out of that tunnel and just see the sea of gold towels twirling around, it gives me chills to this day to think about it. It's an amazing feeling to know the whole city is behind you. As Steelers players, we took a lot of pride in trying to make the city proud.

"And the fact that it goes to a great cause, which is back into the community, that speaks to the Steelers in general and the Pittsburgh culture."

Throughout the years in the NFL there aren't many 'gimmicks' that have lasted 50 years.

And the reason the Terrible Towel lasted, despite the early doubts of Andy Russell, is because it wasn't a gimmick.

It was a passion.

"People always ask me what my favorite moment was playing for the Steelers," said Hall of Fame guard Alan Faneca. "One of my favorite moments was my first playoff game at Heinz Field and they were announcing the offense. Normally, when you call my name, I'm ready to go play football, I'm running out normally.

"This was my first playoff game. The place was going nuts. Literally nuts. I just stood there. I could see inside the stadium every single Terrible Towel was in the air spinning. And you could just feel the place in your chest. The place was going so crazy.

"I stood there for a second, and I never do that. I was thinking, this is what I'm here for. This is what I'm here to do. And that's really one of my favorite moments. Besides winning the Super Bowl, it was just a surreal moment, and the Terrible Towel was a huge part of it."

'O mama I'm in fear for my life from the long arm of the law.'

The second those words start to blare through the speakers at Acrisure Stadium, and even seconds before when the videoboard goes dark, something mystical happens.

Terrible Towels start waving without prompting, without any action even happening on the field. They continue to whip around in unison, every fan standing and silently waving their towel.

Until the beat of 'Renegade' changes and they explode.

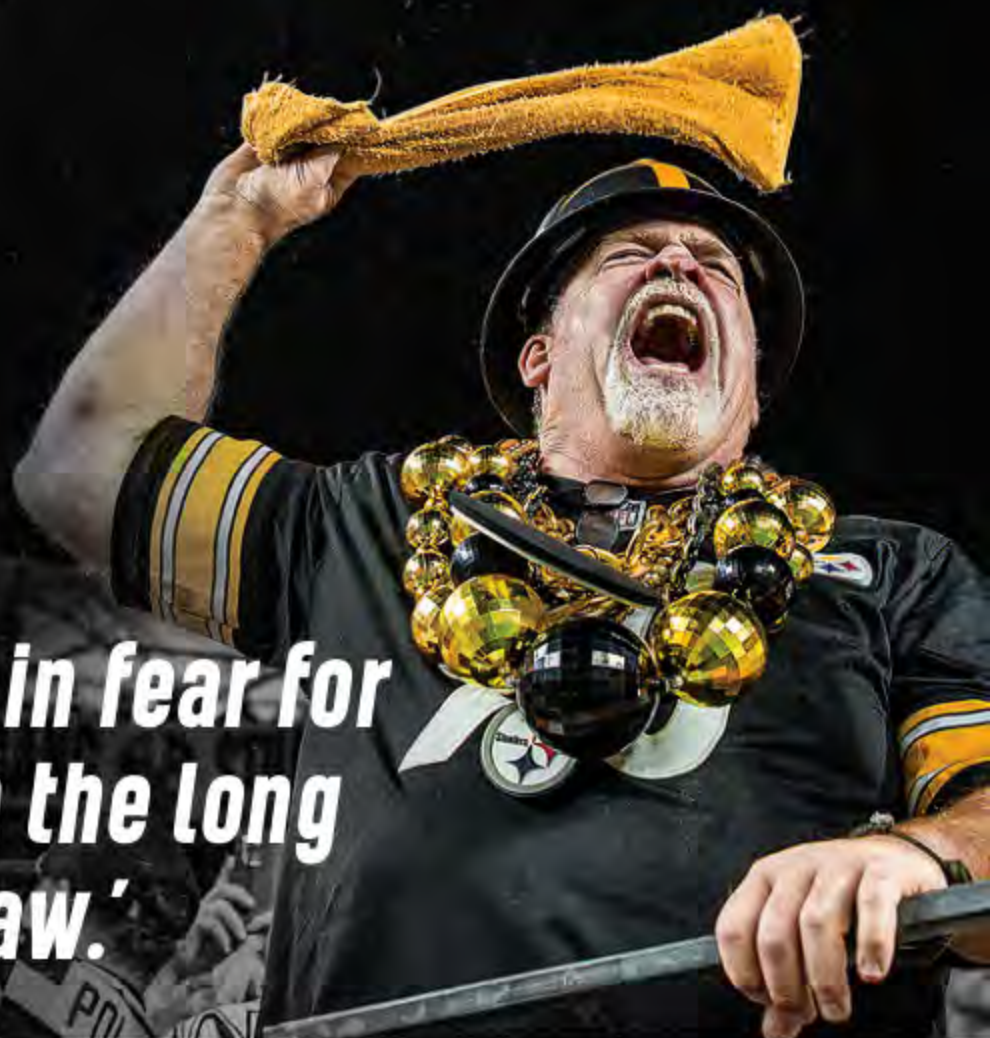

"Before that scream in Renegade, it's like seeing the smoke before the fire and it just kind of prepares you for the moment," said defensive tackle Cameron Heyward.

As players stand on the sidelines, on the field, watching and doing their part to add to the hype, they too are amazed.

"The towels really juice me up, especially in the fourth quarter when Renegade is playing," said linebacker Alex Highsmith. "All the towels are flying around the stadium. It's just truly a feeling like no other. Waving those towels every single game, coming out in the stadium especially in the fourth quarter, it just brings a lot of energy for us."

For Joey Porter Jr., he not only gets to see towels when he is playing, but he grew up seeing the towel while watching his father, Joey Porter Sr., when he played for the Steelers.

"It brings a lot of memories back from my dad playing and just the history around it," said Porter. "It's really a crowd booster. It's an energy booster for everybody.

"I love seeing the Terrible Towels waving. That's Steelers Nation. I'm never surprised when I see the Terrible Towels when we're at the away games. Our fans always make our away games turn into home games, so I just love when they bring that support."

Like many players before him, Heyward has seen other teams try to duplicate the Terrible Towel to take away its magic on the road.

But he knows it will never work because Steelers Nation is too strong and the towel is too powerful.

"It's really unbelievable because it can't be duplicated," said Heyward. "Everybody tries to, but nobody does it right. To be inspired by Myron Cope and for it to take off the way it did, where everybody's twirling it and everybody's locked in and knows there's an energy that comes along with it, it just makes for something special.

"The Terrible Towel is something special."

HEAD COACH

MIKE TOMLIN

Mike Tomlin was named the 16th head coach in Pittsburgh Steelers history on January 22, 2007. Hired at the age of 34, Tomlin became only the third head coach hired by the Steelers since 1969.

In his 19 seasons as head coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Tomlin has accomplished many things that have never been done in the team's storied history. A franchise known for stability at the head coaching position, Tomlin ranks among the League's longest-tenured active head coaches entering the 2025 season.

Tomlin became the youngest head coach in NFL history to both coach in and win a Super Bowl when he led the Steelers to a 27-23 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Super Bowl XLIII (36 years, 323 days), a record that held until it was eclipsed by Sean McVay in Super Bowl LVI (36 years, 20 days). By winning the Super Bowl in only his second season as a head coach, he also became the fastest to win a Super Bowl title in Steelers history.

During his head coaching tenure in Pittsburgh, Tomlin has led the Steelers to seven AFC North titles, most recently in 2020, and has guided the Steelers to the playoffs 12 times, including two trips to the Super Bowl (XLIII and XLV). Tomlin has won at least five home games in 17 of his first 18 years, including six in 2021. In his 18 seasons, he has never had a losing record.

Tomlin is the only head coach in League history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 19 consecutive non-losing seasons. He has led the Steelers to a .500-or-better record in each of his 19 seasons as head coach. That is tied for the second-longest streak of .500-or-better seasons by a head coach in NFL history.

Tomlin has sent a total of 83 selections to the NFL's annual Pro Bowl, including the three players who received Pro Bowl honors for the 2025 season. Additionally, Tomlin was appointed by Commissioner Roger Goodell to the NFL's Competition Committee in March 2013.

Tomlin is just the eighth coach in NFL history to win a Super Bowl within his first two seasons as head coach. He is the only head coach in Steelers history to lead the team to two Super Bowls in his first four seasons at the helm, including an appearance against the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XLV. He is one of only two Steelers head coaches to win three division titles in his first four seasons.

Tomlin has led Pittsburgh to a 192-114-2 record in the regular season since becoming the team's head coach in 2007—the second-best record in the NFL during that time span, behind only Andy Reid. His 192-114-2 regular-season record (.627) is the best start in franchise history. Tomlin's 192 regular-season victories are the second-most among active NFL head coaches and 10th-most in League history. Tomlin's .627 regular-season win percentage is the 11th-highest in NFL history (minimum 150 games).

Tomlin's 192 regular-season wins are the second-most in a coach's first 19 career seasons. His .627 regular-season win percentage is the fifth-best by a head coach in his first 19 career seasons.

Tomlin, who ranks eight in NFL history with a regular-season record of 78 games over .500, Bill Belichick, Andy Reid and Marty Schottenheimer are the only coaches in NFL history with career records of 70 or more games over .500 not in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 190 victories and one of four active NFL head coaches to defeat at least 31 current NFL franchises.

With a victory at Baltimore in Week 14, Tomlin became the 11th head coach in NFL history to reach 190 career wins. He registered 190 wins in 305 games coached, which was the fifth-fewest games in League history and second-fewest games since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to reach the milestone.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 10-win season in 2024, the 11th time Pittsburgh has reached double-digit wins during his tenure. The Steelers played seven regular-season games vs. 2024 playoff teams. Pittsburgh's seven regular-season games played vs. 2024 playoff foes was tied for the fourth-most in the NFL. The Steelers' five victories vs. opponents that finished 2024 with a winning record were the fifth-most in the NFL.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 10-win season in 2023, the 10th time Pittsburgh has reached double-digit wins during his tenure. The Steelers played eight regular-season games vs. 2023 playoff teams, including both four at home and four on the road. Pittsburgh's eight regular-season games played vs. 2023 playoff foes was tied for the eighth-most in the NFL. Five teams in the League that qualified for the playoffs played at least eight games vs. 2023 playoff teams and only Baltimore played more such games and reached the postseason. The Steelers' five regular-season wins vs. 2023 playoff foes was tied for the third-most in the NFL this season.

Tomlin's young 2022 team improved dramatically over the course of the season, culminating in Tomlin's 16th-straight season of .500 or above with a record of 9-8. The Steelers started the season at 2-6 before their Week 9 bye, and went 7-2 the rest of the way. Pittsburgh's offense boasted the best third-down conversion rate and the third-most rushing yards in the League from Weeks 10 through 18 after starting the season ranked 24th in both categories. Defensively, Pittsburgh improved from ranking 29th in opponent yards per game to the stingiest defense in the League over the second half of the season, allowing an NFL-best 272.9 yards per game following their bye week. The Steelers defense also improved in getting off the field over the last nine weeks, allowing the third-least third-down conversions (36) and tying for the second-most interceptions (12). The team's 20 interceptions on the season tied for the most in the League.

VICTORIES

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 190 victories.

Tomlin's .627 regular-season win percentage is the tenth-highest in NFL history (minimum 150 games)

In 2021, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 9-7-1 record and captured a playoff berth for the 10th time in his Steelers career. For the fifth-straight season, the Steelers led the NFL in sacks (55). The Pittsburgh defense sat atop the League in red zone defense allowing touchdowns on just 50.14% of red zone trips. Offensively, Pat Freiermuth and Najee Harris set several rookie franchise records and were two of five rookies starting in Week 1 of the season.

In 2020, Tomlin became one of just two head coaches in NFL history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 14 consecutive non-losing seasons – joining Marty Schottenheimer (14, 1984-97). The Steelers began the season with an 11-0 win-streak, which culminated in a 12-4 regular-season record and Tomlin's ninth AFC North title. The 11-game winning streak (9/14/20-12/2/20) tied the longest regular season winning streak in franchise history. Over the past six seasons (2013-20), Tomlin has led the team to a 26-13 record in the month of December/January.

The Steelers offense dramatically improved in 2020, scoring at least 24 points in 11 regular season games after hitting the mark just five times in 2019. However, it was Pittsburgh's defense that once again showed its teeth, either topping or sharing the league lead in 20 different defensive categories including tackles for loss (103), sacks (56.0), interceptions (18), passes defended (84), quarterback pressures (198), defensive completion percentage (56.7%) and opposing QB rating (76.7). The unit also finished second in takeaways (27) and third in scoring defense (19.5).

Finishing the regular season as the AFC's No. 3 seed, Pittsburgh produced five Pro Bowlers—offensive linemen Maurkice Pouncey and David DeCastro and defenders Minkah Fitzpatrick, Cameron Heyward and T.J. Watt—marking the fourth consecutive season in which at least five Steelers were named to the Pro Bowl.

Pittsburgh was beset with injuries in 2019. The Steelers lost quarterback Ben Roethlisberger with a season-ending elbow injury in Week 2. Running back James Conner missed six games, wide receiver JuJu Smith-Schuster missed four games, and was sidelined for the majority of two others, and defensive end Stephon Tuitt missed the final 10 games of the season. Even backups – quarterback Mason Rudolph and running back Jaylen Samuels missed multiple games. Starting center Maurkice Pouncey missed three games. Starting left guard Ramon Foster and starting tight end Vance McDonald were both sidelined two games for concussions. Undrafted rookie free-agent Devlin Hodges was forced to play in eight games (six starts), and, despite an 0-3 start, Tomlin still led Pittsburgh to a record of 8-8.

Despite injuries, Pittsburgh's defense led or tied for the League-lead in sacks (54.0), quarterback hits (117), takeaways (36), fumble recoveries (17) and rush TDs allowed (7). The Steelers also ranked among the NFL's top-five in interceptions (2nd, 20), interception rate (2nd, 3.89%), passing defense (3rd, 194.6), yards per play allowed (3rd, 4.74), passes defended (3rd, 83), yards per rush allowed (3rd, 3.79), forced fumbles (t-3rd, 19), tackles for loss (t-3rd, 90), opposing passer rating (4th, 80.7), pass yards per attempt allowed (4th, 6.06), total defense (5th, 304.1), scoring defense (t-5th, 18.9) and offensive TDs allowed (5th, 30).

During the 2019 season, Tomlin reached 125 career wins in the fewest games (192) in team history, tying him with Bud Grant for the fifth-fewest games by an NFL head coach to secure 125 regular season wins. He was the third head coach in NFL history with 133 or more regular season wins in their first 13 seasons as a head coach, joining Tony Dungy: 139 and Shula: 138.

Tomlin led the Steelers to a record of 9-6-1 in 2018. With a Week 5 win against Atlanta, he and quarterback Ben Roethlisberger broke a tie with Chuck Noll and Terry Bradshaw for the most wins by a head coach-quarterback tandem in franchise history. The duo's 127 regular-season wins (2007-20) are now third-most by a head coach-quarterback pairing in NFL history, trailing only the tandems of Sean Payton/Drew Brees and Bill Belichick/Tom Brady.

Roethlisberger set single-season franchise records for touchdown passes (34), pass completions (452) and passing yards (5,129) in 2018, while leading all NFL players in pass completions and passing yardage. Wide receiver Antonio Brown led the NFL with a single-season franchise record 15 TD catches. Brown and second-year wide receiver JuJu Smith-Schuster also made history, becoming the sixth wide receiver duo in NFL history and first in Steelers history to record 100 receptions and 1,000 yards apiece in a single season. Smith-Schuster was voted Team MVP for his breakout year.

With Tomlin at the helm, six Steelers were named to the Pro Bowl for their 2018 performances — the third consecutive season with at least five selections. Brown, running back James Conner, defensive tackle Cameron Heyward and offensive linemen DeCastro, Maurkice Pouncey and Villanueva all received Pro Bowl accolades.

In 2017, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 13-3 record, including a 6-0 record against the AFC North, securing his sixth division title and a No. 2 seed in the AFC for the postseason. The team's 13 wins marked the most wins in a single season in the Tomlin era.

Under Tomlin's guidance, Roethlisberger became the eighth quarterback in NFL history to reach 50,000 passing yards, finishing the 2017 season with a career total of 51,065. Brown was voted team MVP for his outstanding performance and became the first Steeler to earn the honor four times (2011, '13, '15 and '17). Brown led the league with 1,533 receiving yards and set an NFL record for the most receptions (582) and receiving yards (7,848) by a player in any five-year span in League history. For the second straight season, running back Le'Veon Bell led the AFC in scrimmage yards per game (129.7) and surpassed his own Steelers single-season record for receptions by a running back with 85. Defensively, the team led the NFL and set a Steelers single-season record with 56 sacks in 2017.

For their efforts, Roethlisberger, Brown and Bell were named to the Pro Bowl along with kicker Chris Boswell, linebacker Ryan Shazier, and offensive linemen DeCastro, Maurkice Pouncey and Villanueva. Brown, Bell and DeCastro were also named AP All-Pro, along with Heyward. Heyward and fullback Roosevelt Nix were also added to the Pro Bowl roster prior to the game.

The Steelers finished with an 11-5 record in 2016, and won each of the team's final seven regular-season games, to secure the AFC North title and No. 3 seed in the AFC for the postseason. It marked the fifth time Tomlin led the Steelers to at least 11 wins in the regular season. Pittsburgh won its first two postseason games, vs. Miami in an AFC Wild Card Game and at Kansas City in an AFC Divisional Playoff, before falling to the New England Patriots in the AFC Championship Game.

Bell was voted the Steelers' MVP for his 2016 efforts. He led the NFL in scrimmage yards per game (157.0), and he became the fastest player in NFL history to reach 3,000 rushing yards and 1,500 receiving yards in his career (38 games). In the Steelers' Week 14 victory at Buffalo in 2016, Bell set the single-game team record with 236 rushing yards and tied the single-game team mark with three rushing TDs.

Roethlisberger and Brown continued to etch their names in NFL history. Roethlisberger finished the season with the ninth-most passing TDs in NFL history (301) and the 10th-most passing yards in NFL history (46,814). Brown set numerous NFL records, including one for the most receptions in a player's first 100 career regular-season games (622) and one for the most receptions in NFL history by a player in any four-year span (481).

Tomlin also reached his 100th career win in 2016 and did so in the fewest games (157) in team history. He became the eighth head coach in NFL history to reach 100 regular-season wins in their first 10 seasons.

Despite significant injuries to multiple starters during the 2015 season, the Steelers finished with a 10-6 record (2nd in the AFC North) and advanced to the Divisional Round of the playoffs. The Steelers finished third in the NFL in total offense (1st in the AFC), while the defense posted 48 sacks under first-year defensive coordinator Keith Butler. The 48 sacks were the third most in the NFL in 2015.

In 2014, Tomlin orchestrated one of the top offensive outputs in team history. The Steelers broke numerous offensive records, including points scored (436), total yards (6,577), passing yards per game (301.6) and total first downs (379). On an individual basis in 2014, Tomlin guided Roethlisberger, Brown and Bell — who all made the Pro Bowl — to record-setting years.

Arguably one of his best coaching performances may have come in the second half of the 2013 season. Despite an 0-4 and 2-6 start to the season, the Steelers finished the regular season surging to a 6-2 second-half record, falling just short of the playoffs.

In 2012, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 27-10 victory over the New York Jets in the home opener, becoming the first coach in team history to win his first six home openers. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked overall defense (275.8 yards/game) and finished first in passing defense (185.2 yards/game).

In 2011, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 12-4 record, marking the second straight season the team posted 12 wins, which was only the second time in team history it had been achieved. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked total defense (271.8 ypg) and scoring defense (14.2 ppg). Pittsburgh posted a 7-1 record at home in 2011, for the second time in Tomlin's career (2007). He also had five players (Roethlisberger, Mike Wallace, Pouncey, Troy Polamalu and Brown) selected to the Pro Bowl following the season.

Tomlin's seven road wins during the 2010 regular season tied a Steelers record previously set in 1978 and 2004. The Steelers finished second in total defense under Tomlin's guidance in 2010, allowing only 276.8 yards per game. Pittsburgh led the NFL and set a team record in rushing defense, yielding only 62.8 yards per game (1,004 yards), the third-best total in NFL history dating back to 1970. The Steelers also established an NFL record in 2010 by not allowing an opponent to rush for more than 75 yards in any of their first eight games during the regular season.

In all, the Steelers' defense led the NFL in 2010 in rushing yards allowed (62.8 yds./game), points allowed (232), touchdowns allowed (22), quarterback sacks (48), rushing average (3.0), yards per play (4.5) and yards allowed on first down (4.08). It finished second in the league in passing average (6.31), turnover advantage (+14) and red-zone efficiency (40.0, tied).

Under Tomlin, the Steelers broke new ground on offense in 2009. Pittsburgh's offense ranked seventh in the NFL (ninth passing, 19th rushing) but became the first unit in team history to boast a 4,000-yard passer (Roethlisberger), two 1,000-yard receivers (Hines Ward, Santonio Holmes) and a 1,000-yard rusher (Rashard Mendenhall) in the same season. Pittsburgh's defense ranked fifth in the NFL (third vs. run, 16th vs. pass) while leading the AFC and finishing one shy of the NFL lead with 47 quarterback sacks.

The Steelers continued to be dominant at home under Tomlin in 2009. Pittsburgh finished with a 6-2 home record after finishing 7-1 (2007) and 6-2 (2008) at home during Tomlin's first two seasons.

Tomlin finished the 2008 season with a 12-4 record and his second consecutive AFC North Division title, becoming the only Steelers head coach to win division crowns in each of his first two seasons. He also set a record with 22 regular-season wins in his first two years at the helm and is the only Steelers head coach to win at least 10 games in each of his first two seasons. Tomlin's .688 winning percentage (22-10) after two years is the best in Steelers history.

The Steelers' defense was dominant under Tomlin's guidance in 2008, leading the NFL in total defense (237.2), pass defense (156.9), points per game (13.9), total yards per play (3.9), rushing yards per attempt (3.3), passing yards per attempt (4.7) and third-down efficiency (31.4), while finishing second in rush defense (80.3).

Tomlin led the Steelers to a 10-6 record in 2007 and became just the second coach in team history to post a winning record, win a division title and earn a playoff berth in his inaugural season. Tomlin began his head coaching career by becoming only the second Steelers head coach to win his first three games. During 2007, the Steelers became just the fifth team in NFL history to win their first four home games by at least 20 points.

Tomlin guided the Steelers to the NFL's top-ranked defense in 2007, yielding only 266.4 yards per game. The Steelers' defense ranked third in the NFL against both the run (89.9 avg.) and the pass (176.5 avg.), and finished third in the league in total yards allowed per play (4.6). Pittsburgh's defense led the NFL in passing yards per play (5.7) and first downs allowed per game (15.6), and finished second in the league in points allowed per game (16.8).

The Steelers' offense finished third in the NFL in rushing (135.5 avg.) during Tomlin's first season, sparked by Willie Parker, who led the league in rushing before injuring his leg in Week 16. Roethlisberger enjoyed a record-setting season during Tomlin's first year, establishing new team records for TD passes (32) and passer rating (104.1) while earning his first career Pro Bowl appearance.

Tomlin was the NFL's second-youngest head coach in 2007, and he became only the second Steelers coach in team history to win at least 10 games during his first year at the helm. The Steelers posted a 7-1 record at home in 2007 and were 5-1 in the AFC North (3-0 at home).

Tomlin spent the 2006 season as the Minnesota Vikings' defensive coordinator. That season, the Vikings ranked eighth in the NFL in total defense and first against the run while not allowing a 100-yard rusher the entire season.

Tomlin was the defensive backs coach with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers from 2001-05. In 2002, Tomlin guided one of the most productive defensive backfields in the NFL, culminating with its performance in Super Bowl XXXVII. The secondary recorded four of the team's five interceptions, returning two for touchdowns, to help Tampa Bay capture the franchise's first Super Bowl title.

Before joining Tampa Bay's staff, Tomlin served two seasons as the defensive backs coach at the University of Cincinnati (1999-00). He took over a secondary that ranked 111th in the nation in pass defense in 1998 and helped them improve to 61st overall in his first season. Under Tomlin's direction in 2000, the Bearcats ranked eighth in the nation in interceptions as well as fourth nationally in total turnovers.

Prior to joining the Cincinnati staff, Tomlin had a short stint on the coaching staff at Tennessee-Martin and then spent two seasons at Arkansas State, coaching wide receivers in 1997 before switching to defensive backs in 1998.

Tomlin spent the 1996 season as a graduate assistant at the University of Memphis, where he worked with the Tiger defensive backs and special teams units. He began his coaching career in 1995 as wide receivers coach at Virginia Military Institute.

Tomlin was a three-year starter at wide receiver at William & Mary (1990-94) and finished his career with 101 receptions for 2,054 yards and 20 TD catches. A first-team All-Yankee Conference selection in 1994, he established a school record with a 20.2 yards-per-catch average.

Tomlin is very active in the community and was recognized, along with his wife Kiya, in February 2013 by the Chuck Cooper Foundation with the Career Achievement in Leadership Diversity and Community Service Award. Tomlin also participates in the annual ManUp Pittsburgh conference which encourages local men to be better fathers and role models.

HISTORY

Tomlin became the 8th head coach in NFL history to reach 190 career wins.

Heyward earned first-team All-Pro honors for the fourth time in his career, recording 71 tackles, 8.0 sacks, 12 tackles for a loss, 20 quarterback hits and 11 pass defenses, which led all NFL defensive linemen.

It was one of Heyward's most complete seasons in his career. He got more votes than any other defensive tackle in the NFL for the Associated Press All-Pro Team, showing just how dominant a season he posted.

Watt was voted the team MVP for a record fifth time after a season in which he had 61 tackles, including 19 for a loss, 11.5 sacks, a league-high six forced fumbles, 27 quarterback hits and four pass defenses. He also was named second-team All-Pro and finalist for NFL Defensive Player of the Year.

Austin's college coaching career began as a graduate assistant at Penn State (1991-92). He held stints as the defensive backs coach at Wake Forest (1993-95), Syracuse (1996-98) and Michigan (1999-2002). Arthur Smith, previous head coach for the Atlanta Falcons for three years (2021-23), is in his second season as the Steelers' offensive coordinator in 2025. This marks his 17th year in the National Football League coaching ranks.

The Steelers' offense in 2024 showed signs of progress under Smith. Pittsburgh improved in total offense, rush offense and scoring offense in 2024.

The Steelers leaned heavily on the run, ranking 11th in the League in rush offense (127.4 yards/game) and logging the fourth-most rushing attempts in the NFL.

Pittsburgh's 317.2 yards/game was up from 304.3 in 2023. The Steelers also averaged 22.4 points/game last season, up from 17.9 points/game in 2023. The Steelers threw 21 TD passes in 2024. They had just 13 in 2023. Pittsburgh threw just six interceptions. Only the Chargers (three) and Ravens (four) threw fewer.

Under Smith, the Falcons led the NFL in fewest penalties (2022), ranked third in successful play rate on rushing attempts, based on EPA, (2022), finished third in rushing yards/game (2022), ninth in rushing yards/game (2023), 10th in third-down conversion rate (2022), 13th in third-down conversion rate (2023) and 13th in passing yards/attempt (2023).

He also spent time as an offensive assistant/quality control coach (2012), offensive line/tight ends assistant (2013), and assistant tight ends coach (2014-15) before taking over as tight ends coach during the 2015 season and holding the position through 2018.

Prior to joining the Titans, Smith spent two years as the defensive quality control coach for the Washington Commanders under Joe Gibbs (2007-08). In addition to his coaching role, he also worked as a college scouting assistant in Washington in 2007. In 2010, Smith worked at Ole Miss as an administrative assistant/defensive intern, working primarily with the linebackers.

Born and raised in Memphis, Tenn., Smith graduated from North Carolina where he played offensive line and later joined the Tar Heels coaching staff as a graduate assistant (2006), working with the offensive line.

DANNY SMITH

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

Danny Smith is in his 13th season with the Steelers as the special teams coordinator. Smith was hired on January 31, 2013.

Since joining the Steelers in 2015, kicker Chris Boswell is 272-of-309 overall on field goal attempts (88.0%), including 123-of-153 (80.4%) from 40 yards or longer. He ranks second in field goal percentage (88.0%) among all NFL kickers with at least 300 field goal attempts since the start of the 2015 season. Boswell's 88.0 field goal percent ranks first in Steelers history among kickers with at least 300 field goal attempts. He has registered a franchise-record 10 career game-winning field goals (last five min. of the fourth quarter or overtime for a lead change.)

In 2024, Boswell led the NFL in field goals made (41), points by a kicker (158) and field goal percentage (93.2, min. 35 FGA), and also ranked second in field goals attempted (44). His 158 points are tied for the fifth-most by any kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. His 41 field goals made in 2024 are the second-most by any kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger.

Prior to joining Pittsburgh, Smith served as the Washington Football Team's special teams coordinator from 2004-2012. He helped establish Washington's special teams as one of the top coverage and return units in the NFL.

TOM ARTH

QUARTERBACKS COACH

Tom Arth is in his second season as the Steelers' quarterbacks coach in 2025.

The Steelers completely made over their quarterback room in 2024.

The Steelers went from averaging 186.1 yards passing/game with 13 TD passes and nine interceptions in 2023 to 192.0 passing yards/game with 21 TD passes and just six interceptions.

The combination of Russell Wilson and Justin Fields also rushed 105 times for 444 yards and seven more TDs.

He helped the Chargers rank fifth in passing offense (251.2 ypg.) and No. 11 in total offense (344.3 ypg.) over his tenure. Arth helped quarterback Justin Herbert continue to set records, as no player has more completions (1,613) or passing yards (18,134) over the first four seasons of a career. Herbert's 114 passing TDs and 125 total TDs rank second in League history – only Dan Marino (142) and Josh Allen (135) registered more, respectively, over their first four seasons in the NFL.

Arth holds nine years of collegiate head coaching acumen and three seasons of NFL playing experience to the offensive staff. He spent three years (2019-21) as the head coach at the University of Akron following two seasons (2017-18) at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. It was one of Heyward's most complete seasons in his career. He got more votes than any other defensive tackle in the NFL for the Associated Press All-Pro Team, showing just how dominant a season he posted.

T.J. Watt was voted the team MVP for a team-record fifth time after a season in which he had 61 tackles, including 19 for a loss, 11.5 sacks, a league-high six forced fumbles, 27 quarterback hits and four pass defenses. He also was named second-team All-Pro and is a finalist for NFL Defensive Player of the Year.

In 2023, Watt became the first player since 1982, when the individual sack became an official statistic, to lead the League in sacks three times (2020, 2021 and 2023). He surpassed his brother J.J. Watt, Reggie White, DeMarcus Ware, Michael Strahan, Kevin Greene, Mark Gastineau and Jared Allen, who each led the League in sacks twice.

EDDIE FAULKNER

RUNNING BACKS COACH

Eddie Faulkner is in his seventh season as the running backs coach for the Steelers, after being hired on January 17, 2019.

The running back group was assured of being a big part of every game plan under first-year offensive coordinator Arthur Smith in 2024. That proved to be the case, as only the Eagles and Ravens ran the ball a higher percentage than the 52.1 the Steelers posted in 2024.

Najee Harris led the way with 263 carries for 1,043 yards and six TDs. He also caught 36 passes for 283 yards. It was Harris' fourth-consecutive 1,000-yard season to open his career, making him just the 14th player in league history to do so.

Faulkner mentored the tandem of Harris and Jaylen Warren, each of whom eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. Harris and Warren were the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season and first since Walter Abercrombie and Earnest Jackson in 1986.

In 2022, with Faulkner's guidance, Harris eclipsed 1,000 rushing yards for the second consecutive season, becoming the first running back in franchise history to do so in each of his first two seasons.

Faulkner oversaw the development of Harris in 2021 who led the NFL in touches (377), led all NFL running backs in catches (74) and finished the season with the most rushes (307), rushing yards (1,200), catches and receiving yards (467) by a rookie running back in franchise history, culminating in a trip to the Pro Bowl.

Prior to joining the Steelers, Faulkner spent six years, 2013-18, at NC State as the school's tight ends/fullbacks/special teams coordinator.

Faulkner spent the 2012 season at the University of Wisconsin coaching the Badgers' tight ends.

Jacob Pederson won All-Big Ten honors and the League's Kwalick-Clark Tight End of the Year award.

In 2011, Faulkner held the running backs/special teams coordinator title at Northern Illinois University.

Following the 2002 season at Anderson University, Faulkner spent the 2003-10 campaigns at Ball State University, serving as a graduate assistant (2003-04), running backs/special teams (2005-08) and the offensive coordinator/running backs (2009-10), including a stint as the school's interim head coach at the end of the 2010 season.

Faulkner, a member of two Big Ten championship teams as Wisconsin's running back, rushed for 1,064 yards and 7 TDs in his collegiate career from 1996-2000.

DENZEL MARTIN

OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS COACH

Watt, who garnered AP First Team All-Pro honors for the fourth time in his seven year career, was selected by the NFL Committee of 101 as the 2023 AFC Defensive Player of the Year. He has now captured the award three times in the last four years (2020, 2021 and 2023).

In his third season in 2022, Martin worked with a defense that consistently improved over the course of the year, holding opponents to 17 points or less through its final seven games.

With Martin's assistance, Watt became the NFL's 2021 Defensive Player of the Year, tallying a career-high 22.5 sacks, 21 tackles for loss and five forced fumbles.

In 2020, Martin assisted with one of the top pass-rushing units in the NFL, which included the tandem of Watt and Bud Dupree, who combined for 23.0 sacks, 56 quarterback hits and 31 tackles for loss.

Prior to joining the Steelers in 2016, Martin spent a year as a recruiting graduate assistant at the University of Missouri in 2015, where he played linebacker from 2010-14. Martin, a native of St. Louis, Mo., received a degree in multidisciplinary studies in 2014 and a master's in education with an emphasis in positive coaching from Missouri in 2015.

In 2023, Watt became the first player since 1982 to lead the League in sacks three times (2020, 2021 and 2023). He surpassed his brother J.J. Watt, Reggie White, DeMarcus Ware, Michael Strahan, Kevin Greene, Mark Gastineau and Jared Allen, who each led the League in sacks twice.

Pat Meyer is entering his fourth season as the Steelers' offensive line coach in 2025. He was hired by Pittsburgh on February 15, 2022.

Meyer, who boasted 20 years of coaching experience prior to his arrival in Pittsburgh, including nine in the NFL, joined the Steelers after two seasons with the Carolina Panthers as their offensive line coach (2020-21). He also coached offensive line in the NFL with the L.A. Chargers (2017-19) and Chicago Bears (2013-14).

The Steelers selected three offensive linemen in the 2024 NFL Draft, taking tackle Troy Fautanu in the first round, center Zach Frazier in the second and guard Mason McCormick in the fourth, one year after the selection of Broderick Jones in the first round and Spencer Anderson in the seventh.

The Steelers started four different line combinations in the first six games because of injuries, but Meyer mentored Frazier with being if not the best rookie offensive linemen in the NFL in 2024, then most certainly the best center.

Isaac Williams is entering his fifth season as the Steelers' assistant offensive line coach in 2025. He was hired by Pittsburgh on March 15, 2022.

McCormick moved into the starting lineup at right guard when James Daniels suffered a season-ending Achilles' tendon injury and played well, particularly showing his chops as a run blocker.

Meyer's unit blocked for Najee Harris and Jaylen Warren, who each eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. They're the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season.

In his first year in Pittsburgh, the run game improved from ranking 24th in the League through the first half of the season, to finishing third-best after Week 10.

Prior to Carolina, Meyer served as the offensive line coach for the Chargers for three years, and also spent two seasons with the Buffalo Bills (2015-16).

Meyer began his NFL coaching career with the Chicago Bears, first as an assistant offensive line coach in 2013 before taking over the primary coaching duties in 2014.

Meyer spent one season in the Canadian Football League in 2012, where was an offensive line coach and offensive coordinator for the Montreal Alouettes.

Meyer began coaching as a graduate assistant at Memphis in 1997, where he served multiple roles.

Meyer led the strength and conditioning program at NC State for six years (2000-05) before becoming their offensive line coach in 2006.

In 2007, Meyer headed the strength and conditioning staff at Florida State. He returned to his alma mater, Colorado State, for three seasons (2008-11).

Meyer played offensive line at Colorado State from 1991-94, where he was a three-time All-Western Athletic Conference selection.

Williams aided a unit that blocked for the tandem of Najee Harris and Jaylen Warren, each of whom eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. Harris and Warren were the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season and first since 1986.

In his first year with the Steelers, the run game improved from ranking 24th in the League through the first half of the season, to finishing third-best after Week 10.

Williams came to Pittsburgh after collegiate stints at North Carolina Central University (2021), Morgan State (2018-20) and Northern Colorado (2016-17).

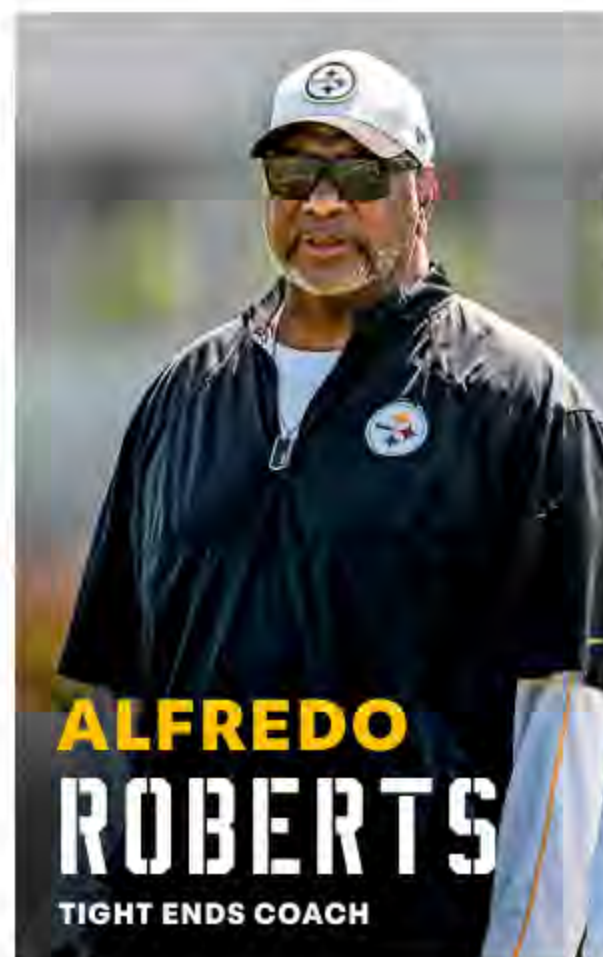

Prior to North Carolina Central, Williams spent three seasons (2018-20) in the MEAC as an offensive line coach/run game coordinator at Morgan State.

While the Bears did not compete in 2020 due to COVID, Williams developed All-MEAC tackle Joshua Miles in 2019, who participated in the East-West Shrine game and was selected by the Arizona Cardinals in the seventh round of the 2019 NFL Draft.

Williams was a four-year starting offensive lineman and three-time captain at Alcorn State (2008-11). He earned all-conference honors as a junior and senior, and graduated with honors. Williams played one season with the Laredo Rattlers of the Arena Football League in 2013.

Williams earned his bachelor's degree in nutrition and dietetics from Alcorn State University in 2012, and then earned his master's degree in education leadership from the University of Northern Colorado in 2017.

Williams has also coached at Millsaps College, Clinton High School (Mississippi) and Sumner Hill Jr. High School (Mississippi).

Alfredo Roberts is in his fifth year as the team's tight ends coach. He was hired on Jan. 25, 2021.

Roberts, who starts his 27th year of coaching overall, guided Pat Freiermuth and a quartet of tight ends in 2024. Freiermuth led the Steelers in receptions with 65 for 653 yards and a team-best seven TDs. His reception total was tied for eighth-most among NFL tight ends, while his TD total was tied for fourth-most at the position. As a group, the tight ends caught 96 passes for 933 yards and 10 TDs, a big uptick from the 2023 season when they combined for just 62 catches for 536 yards and two scores.

In 2023, Roberts managed a position group beset by injuries. Freiermuth finished the season with 32 receptions for 308 yards (9.6 avg.) and two TDs.

In 2022, Roberts saw another year of success from Freiermuth, who despite injuries, finished the season sixth in receptions (63) and receiving yards (732) among all NFL tight ends. His 63 catches also ranked fourth-most by a tight end in a single season in franchise history.

In 2021, Freiermuth – under Roberts' guidance – set a franchise record for receptions (60) and receiving yards by a rookie tight end (497). His seven touchdowns accounted for almost as many as his entire tight end draft class combined (8).

Roberts spent four seasons with the L.A. Chargers as their running backs coach (2017-19) and tight ends coach (2020). He also coached in Indianapolis (2012-15), Tampa Bay (2009-11), Cleveland (2007-08) and Jacksonville (2003-06).

Over his 20 seasons coaching in the NFL, Roberts has mentored multiple Pro Bowl players at tight end and running back.

Roberts began his coaching career in 1998 at Florida Atlantic University.

Roberts was an eighth-round pick by Kansas City in the 1988 NFL Draft. He spent three seasons with the Chiefs before joining Dallas in 1991. Roberts was part of two Super Bowl championship teams in Dallas (1992 and '93).

Luke Smith is in his first season as Pittsburgh's quality control coach in 2025.

Smith joined the Steelers staff after nine years at Duquesne. He served as a defensive assistant in 2016 and '17 and led the wide receivers for seven seasons (2018-24).

As the wide receivers coach, Smith has coached seven all-conference receivers - four of which have been first team selections. Cyrus Holder, who led the NEC in receiving yards in 2020-21 and 2021 signed an undrafted rookie free agent contract with the Chicago Bears in 2022. Dwayne Menders (2023) and DJ Powell (2024) have earned invitations to the Pittsburgh Steelers rookie minicamp in back-to-back years.

In Smith's first season as the wide receivers coach, the Dukes won their first FCS Playoff game in program history, 31-10 at No. 16 Towson. Smith's top receiver on the team, Nehari Crawford eclipsed 1,000 yards and had 10 touchdown catches in 2018, while leading the league with 1,048 receiving yards, 71 receptions, 80.6 receiving yards per game, and 5.5 receptions per game. Crawford was just the second player in program history to record back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons. Crawford graduated as Duquesne's all-time leader in receiving yards and receptions and accepted an invitation to play in the NFLPA Collegiate Bowl at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. in January of 2019.

Smith's receiving core was a part of the top passing offense in the NEC and had four players rank in the top 11 for receiving yards during the 2023 championship run led by DJ Powell's 713 yards ranking second. Powell (9) and Keshawn Brown (7) ranked first and second in the league in receiving touchdowns, while Tedy Afful was tied for third with five.

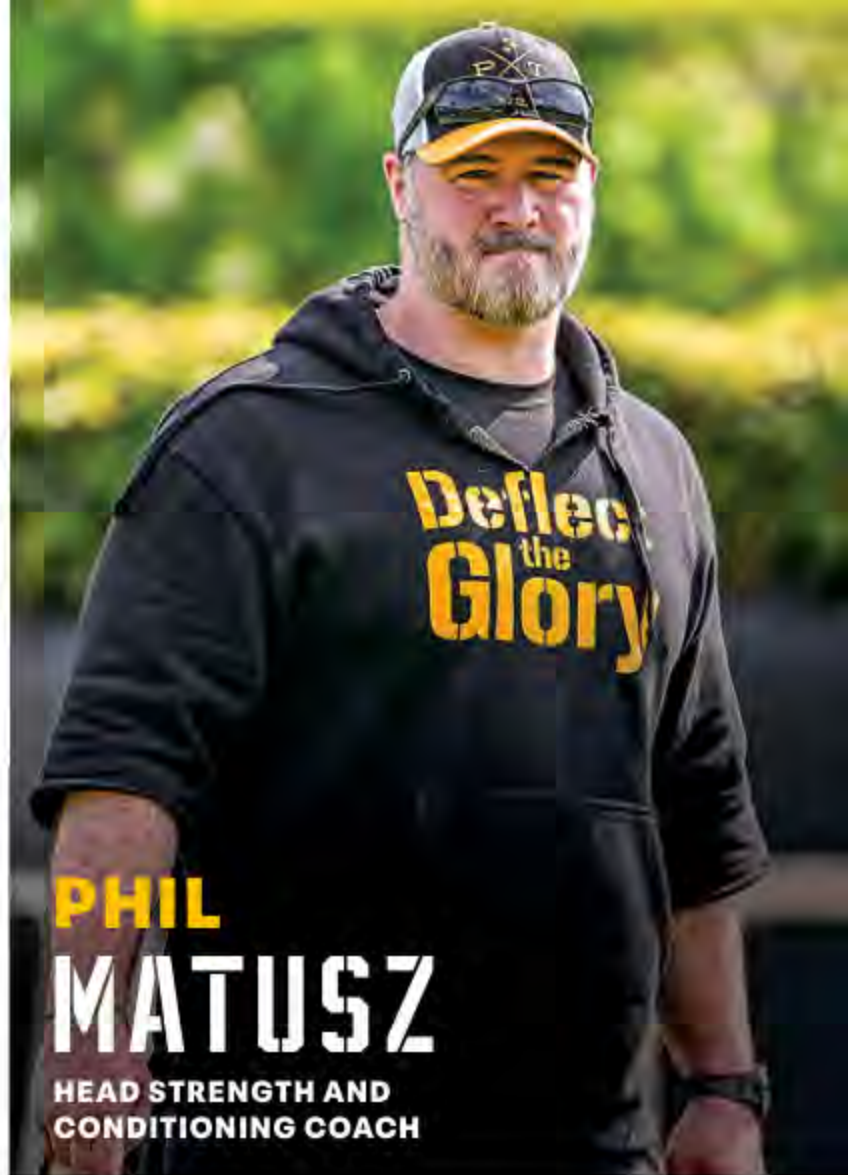

The Dukes have had a receiver rank in the top three in receiving yards and receiving touchdowns in five of the six seasons under Smith.

Smith came to Duquesne after assisting a pair of highly-regarded high schools to championships.

In 2015, Smith was the defensive backs coach at his alma mater, Pittsburgh Central Catholic, where he helped the Vikings to WPIAL and PIAA championships.

Prior to his stint at Central, he was a varsity assistant and freshman team offensive coordinator at DeMatha Catholic in Washington, DC., where he helped the Stags to 2013 and 2014 Washington Catholic Athletic Conference championships.

JOHN HARBAUGH

HEAD COACH

PRO CAREER: Super Bowl-winning head coach John Harbaugh enters his 18th season at the helm in Baltimore. He has led the Ravens to a playoff berth in 12 (2008-12, 2014, 2018-20, 2022-24) of his 17 full seasons, and in 2012, captured the franchise's second Super Bowl championship. Under Harbaugh's guidance, Baltimore is one of four teams with at least 12 playoff berths in the past 17 seasons, joining Green Bay (13), Kansas City (12) and New England (12). Harbaugh has also led the Ravens to playoff berths in six (2018-20, 2022-24) of the past seven seasons, producing the league's second-most regular-season victories (78) during that span. Entering 2025, Harbaugh ties (Mike McCarthy) for the 12th-most total victories (185, including playoffs) by a head coach in NFL history. Additionally, his 13 playoff wins tie (Mike Holmgren) for the seventh most all time, while his .623 regular season winning percentage stands eighth best. Finishing 12-5 in 2024, the AFC North Champion Ravens produced the NFL's best offense (424.9 ypg), becoming the first unit in NFL history to post at least 4,000 passing yards and 3,000 rushing yards in a single season. A league-high nine of Baltimore's regular season wins in 2024 came against teams that finished with a winning record. In 2019, Harbaugh became the first Ravens coach to win Associated Press NFL Coach of the Year, leading the team to the AFC's No. 1 playoff seed and a franchise-best 14-2 record. Baltimore also won a franchise-record 12 straight games to close out the regular season. In 2012, the Ravens seized the franchise's second

Super Bowl championship. Baltimore topped the Colts in the Wild Card round and followed that by earning a Divisional Round victory over top-seeded Denver before advancing to Super Bowl XLVII with a win in the AFC Championship Game at New England. In the Super Bowl in New Orleans, the Ravens bested the San Francisco 49ers, 34-31. In his initial season with the team (2008), Harbaugh led Baltimore to an 11-5 record and a berth in the AFC Championship Game. Baltimore set an NFL record that season for most total wins (13) by a team with both a rookie head coach and a rookie starting quarterback (Joe Flacco). Harbaugh spent his first 10 NFL seasons (1998-2007) with the Philadelphia Eagles. He was the team's secondary coach in 2007, after nine seasons as its special teams coordinator. In 2001, he was voted the NFL's Special Teams Coach of the Year by his peers. Career record: 193-123.

BACKGROUND: Played defensive back at Miami (Ohio) from 1980-83, earned degree in political science. Coached collegiately at Western Michigan (1984-86), Pittsburgh (1987), Morehead State (1988), Cincinnati (1989-1996), and Indiana (1997).

PERSONAL: Born in Perrysburg, Ohio, on Sept. 23, 1962, Harbaugh and his wife, Ingrid, have a daughter, Alison. Son of longtime college coach Jack. His brother, Jim, head coach of the Los Angeles Chargers, played for the Ravens in 1998. John's brother-in-law, Tom Crean, a longtime college head basketball coach, is married to the brothers' sister, Joani.

COMMUNITY

The Pittsburgh Steelers are proud to be a part of the Western Pennsylvania community.

The organization's strong commitment to this area dates back to 1933 when Arthur J. Rooney, Sr. founded the team. Current President Art Rooney II is known as one of the most active NFL owners and one of Pittsburgh's most involved executives in civic affairs, as was his father, the late Steelers Chairman Dan Rooney.

Steelers players, coaches and front office staff are involved in appearances, charitable donations, and outreach programs with nonprofit and community groups. It's our way of giving back to the community that has given us so much!

Inspire Change Changemaker Award

The NFL's Inspire Change Changemaker Award recognizes an individual from every NFL city who is making a difference in their communities through social justice work, either individually or as part of a non-profit organization through education, economic advancement, police-community relations, and criminal justice reform. This year, Corliss Waitman surprised Tim Smith, CEO and founder of Center of Life in Pittsburgh's Hazelwood, as his selection for the Steelers 2025 Inspire Change Changemaker Award recipient. Smith has contributed and volunteered within the community since the 1980s, connecting with kids and families to create Center of Life, which was founded in 2001. Center of Life offers numerous programs, including rich academic out-of-school programs and experiences in music and art. He will receive a $10,000 donation courtesy of the NFL Foundation to Center of Life for his impact on the community.

Alex Highsmith Walter Payton Man of the Year Nomination

The NFL presents the Walter Payton Man of the Year Award each year to recognize a player's exceptional off-the-field community service, along with their excellence and professionalism on the field. Through the Alex Highsmith Family Foundation, Highsmith has made a lasting impact in the community by hosting annual youth football camps, Back-to-School events, and more. Through his work, he has created opportunities that support local youth in underserved communities. Highsmith was presented with the nomination by Charlie Batch, alongside his family.

Kuntz4Ki6s Holiday Events

Jeremiah's Place Shopping Trip

Christian Kuntz and his foundation, Kuntz 4 Ki6s, partnered with Jeremiah's Place and Toys for Pittsburgh Tikes to provide five single mothers with a shopping trip to buy necessities for them and their families. He also surprised the children with gifts and bikes for the holidays.

Toy Distribution

The following week, Kuntz partnered again with Toys for Pittsburgh Tikes to provide toys for all of the students at Grandview Pre K-5 in celebration of the holiday season.

Dinner with Foster Love Project

To close out his holiday events, Kuntz, joined by some of his teammates, hosted 10 teens from Foster Love Project to a fun night out at Dave & Buster's. He also surprised them with signed items and gift cards for them to go shopping for the holidays.

Huddle for the Holidays

The Steelers partnered with Convoy of Hope for the 7th annual Huddle for the Holidays event at Acrisure Stadium. Over 500 community members attended the event to kick off the holiday season. Attendees were able to pick out toys, receive winter gear, books, haircuts, and more from players.

Running Backs Event

Trey Sermon was joined by his running back teammates Kenneth Gainwell and Jaylen Warren to host youth from Amachi Pittsburgh for a night out at Dave & Buster's. The players got to spend time with the kids playing games, talking football, and having fun.

Holiday Distribution with Giant Eagle

Matt Sokol, Julius Welschhof, Daequan Hardy, Kana'i Mauga, and Kyler Baugh joined Giant Eagle and the Best of the Batch Foundation for a holiday food distribution. Players helped pack and distribute groceries to families in the community to support them this holiday season.

Jonnu Smith Holiday Shopping Trip

Jonnu Smith hosted Northside Athletic Club for a holiday shopping trip at Dick's Sporting Goods. Smith helped the kids pick out items in spirit of the holidays.

Pat Freiermuth Holiday Shopping Trip

Pat Freiermuth hosted youth from the YWCA Pittsburgh for his annual holiday shopping trip. Through the Freiermuth Fund, he helped the kids shop for toys, electronics, clothes, and other items for the holidays.

SEASON TICKET HOLDER OF THE GAME

SHARON PRZYBYSZ

HOMETOWN: Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania

SEASON TICKET HOLDER SINCE: 2014

Sharon Przybysz was nominated to be Season Ticket Holder of the Game because

For more than a decade, Sharon has embodied what it means to be part of Steelers Nation. For over 10 years, game days haven't just been events on a calendar, they've also been traditions for her and her family. Especially with her mother who she takes to every game. Her dedication doesn't stop at the stadium gates, as no matter where life or travel may lead, Sharon always makes sure her Terrible Towel comes along. On vacations near and far, her towel is proudly displayed, representing the Steelers and the city of Pittsburgh wherever she goes. It's a simple gesture, but one that speaks volumes about her passion. We thank Sharon for her unwavering support, and we are thrilled to honor her today as our Season Ticket Holder of the Game!

HALL OF HONOR

The Pittsburgh Steelers Hall of Honor, established with its inaugural class of 27 members in 2017, is comprised of former players, coaches and front office personnel who were integral in creating and sustaining the franchise's success dating back to when the team was founded in 1933.

Each Hall of Honor inductee receives a replica of the solid steel football that was given to Steelers founder Art Rooney Sr. by the United States Steel Corporation and United Steel Workers in 1982 to commemorate the team's 50th season. The footballs are on display in the Steelers Hall of Honor Museum located in Acrisure Stadium, which provides opportunities for fans to learn more about the franchise, view rare artifacts preserved by the team, and relive the biggest moments and people in Steelers history.

PITTSBURGH STEELERS HISTORY

The fifth-oldest franchise in the NFL, the Pittsburgh Steelers were founded on July 8, 1933, by Arthur Joseph Rooney. Originally named the Pittsburgh Pirates, they were a member of the Eastern Division of the 10-team NFL. The other four current NFL teams in existence at that time were the Chicago (Arizona) Cardinals, Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears and New York Giants.

One of the great pioneers of the sports world, Art Rooney passed away on August 25, 1988, following a stroke at the age of 87. "The Chief," as he was affectionately known, is enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame and is remembered as one of Pittsburgh's greatest people.

Born on January 27, 1901, in Coulterville, Pa., Art Rooney was the oldest of Daniel and Margaret Rooney's nine children. He grew up in Old Allegheny, now known as Pittsburgh's North Side, and until his death he lived on the North Side, just a short distance from where Three Rivers Stadium stood.

Rooney attended St. Peter's Parochial School and Duquesne University Prep School. He studied collegiately at Indiana (Pa.) Normal, which is now Indiana University of Pennsylvania, as well as at Georgetown and Duquesne.

An exceptional all-around athlete, Rooney held middleweight and welterweight titles from the AAU Boxing Championships and was named to the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team in 1920, although he did not participate in the Olympic Games. He played minor league baseball from 1920-25 before a promising career was cut short by an arm injury. Rooney continued playing football for several semi-pro teams in the Pittsburgh area. He was married on June 11, 1931, to Kathleen McNulty, and the couple had five sons — Daniel, Art Jr., Tim, John and Pat. In 1964, Rooney was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame for his contributions to the growth of the NFL and the Pittsburgh Steelers.

By the mid-1960s, Rooney had begun to turn over much of the operation of the Steelers to his oldest son, Dan. After having worked in every area of the organization since 1955, Daniel M. Rooney was named president of the Steelers in 1975. In 2000, Dan Rooney was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. He joined his father Art to form only the second father-son tandem to be inducted into the Hall of Fame. The late New York Giants owners Wellington Mara and his father Tim were the first.

Late Steelers Chairman, Ambassador Dan Rooney, spent 54 consecutive years with the organization before being named U.S. Ambassador to Ireland in 2009 by President Barack Obama. Rooney was required to move to Ireland in 2009 to fulfill his duties as ambassador.

As an NFL owner, Dan Rooney was widely recognized as one of the league's most influential executives and one of Pittsburgh's leading contributors to civic affairs. Among his community activities, he was the co-founder of the American Ireland Fund, and he was a board member of the United Way of America, the American Diabetes Association, the Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foundation, the Extra Mile Foundation and the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center.

Dan Rooney was a member of several NFL committees over 30-plus years. He served on the board of directors for the NFL Trust Fund, NFL Films and the Scheduling Committee. He was appointed chairman of the Expansion Committee in 1973, which considered new franchise locations and directed the addition of Seattle and Tampa Bay as expansion teams in 1976.

In 1976, Rooney was also named chairman of the Negotiating Committee, and in 1982 he contributed to the negotiations for the Collective Bargaining Agreement for the NFL and the Players Association. He again played a key role in the labor agreement reached between NFL owners and players in 1993. Rooney was also largely responsible for developing the realignment plan and scheduling format that the NFL adopted prior to the 2002 season. In October 2002, he was named chairman of the NFL's Diversity in the Workplace Committee. Rooney was also Chairman of the Hall of Fame Committee. In February 1999, he was named the recipient of the Philadelphia Maxwell Football Club's Francis J. "Reds" Bagnell Award for outstanding contributions to the game of football.

Daniel M. Rooney was born on Pittsburgh's North Side on July 20, 1932. He was a 1950 graduate of North Catholic High School, where he played quarterback on the varsity football team. He went on to graduate from Duquesne University in 1955 with a bachelor of arts degree in accounting. Rooney passed away on April 13, 2017 at the age of 84, survived at the time by his wife of 66 years, Patricia (who passed away in 2021), and seven of their nine children, 20 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Dan Rooney was named Steelers Chairman Emeritus in July 2009 after he was named United States Ambassador to Ireland. Rooney served as United States Ambassador until late 2012.

In 2003, Dan Rooney officially turned over the title of Steelers team president to his oldest son, Arthur J. Rooney II, who had previously served as the team's president and general counsel. A 1978 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh where he majored in political science, Art II received his law degree from Duquesne University School of Law in 1982. He currently serves as Chairman of the NFL's Stadium Workplace Diversity Committee as well as the Chair of the NFL Compensation Committee. He also serves on additional NFL committees including the Legislative Committee, the Management Council Executive Committee, the International Committee, Health & Safety Advisory Committee and the NFL Foundation.

Art Rooney II is also very active in the Pittsburgh community, devoting a substantial amount of his time to various organizations. He currently serves as Chairman of the Board of St. Vincent College, Chairman of the board of the Chuck Noll Foundation for Brain Injury Research, and he serves on several other non-profit boards including United Way of Southwest Pennsylvania and the Board of Trustees for the University of Pittsburgh.

July 29, 2000 – Art and Dan Rooney form only the second father-son tandem to be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

January 28

"Mean" Joe Greene is selected by the Steelers in the first round of the NFL Draft.

1930s After founding the Pirates in 1933,

Art Rooney watched his club struggle through its first seven seasons with just 22 wins and five different head coaches. While home games were played at Forbes Field, Rooney often took his team to such cities as Johnstown, Latrobe, Youngstown, New Orleans and Louisville in the 1930s due to competition with baseball and college football.

In 1938, Rooney signed Colorado All-American Byron "Whizzer" White to a $15,800 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL. White led the League in rushing that year and became one of the NFL's most illustrious alumni. He served 31 years as a Justice of the United States Supreme Court before retiring in 1993.

1950s Succeeding Sutherland, John Michelosen was head coach for the 1948-51 seasons, compiling a 20-26-2 record. In 1952, Joe Bach returned for his second stint with the Steelers, having coached the team previously in 1935-36. The Steelers became the last team to abandon the single wing for the T-formation in 1952.

Bach resigned for health reasons following the 1954 season and was replaced by assistant coach Walt Kiesling, who had been the Steelers' head coach twice previously. Kiesling's three stints covered the 1939-40, 1941-44 and the 1954-56 campaigns.

STEELERS HISTORY

The Steelers are the fifth-oldest franchise in the NFL. The team was founded on July 8, 1933.

1940s In 1940, Rooney changed the team name to the Pittsburgh Steelers, representing the heritage of Pittsburgh. The first winning record in the organization's history came in 1942 when head coach Walt Kiesling led the Steelers to a 7-4 finish with the league-leading rushing of rookie Bill Dudley. But the next year, Dudley joined the Armed Forces along with many other NFL players as the nation went to war. With rosters depleted, Rooney merged the Steelers with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1943 (Phil-Pitt "Steagles") and with the Chicago Cardinals (Card-Pitt) in 1944.

Rooney hired legendary Pitt coach Jock Sutherland in 1946, and Dudley returned from the war to earn NFL MVP honors, leading the league in rushing, interceptions and punt returns. Today, Dudley is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Sutherland led the 1947 Steelers to an 8-4 record and a share of the Eastern division title, but they lost their first-ever postseason game 21-0 to Philadelphia. Sutherland died suddenly the following spring while on a scouting trip.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Steelers signed Byron "Whizzer" White to a $15,800 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL.

1960s Buddy Parker was named head coach in 1957 and over the next eight years he led the Steelers to five non-losing seasons. Hall of Fame quarterback Bobby Layne led the team through three of those campaigns, leading the Steelers to a 9-5 mark and a playoff game versus Detroit in 1962, which the Steelers lost 17-10. Parker completed his tenure with a 51-48-6 record and ranks fourth among all-time Steelers coaches for career wins.

On October 25, 1964, the Steelers made team history when they retired jersey No. 70 in honor of former defensive tackle Ernie Stautner. Stautner, who was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1969, became the first Steelers player to have his jersey retired.

Brief head coaching stints by Mike Nixon in 1965 and Bill Austin from 1966-68 preceded the hiring of 37-year-old Chuck Noll on January 27, 1969. Noll began to rebuild the Steelers through the draft, starting with the defense when he selected defensive tackle Joe Greene with his first choice in 1969. Today, Greene is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, and joined Stautner as the only three players to have their jerseys retired by the team. Greene's No. 75 was officially retired on November 2, 2014.

A 1-13 record in 1969 gave the Steelers the first overall choice in the 1970 draft, with which Noll addressed the offense by selecting quarterback Terry Bradshaw, another Hall of Famer, after the Steelers won the first selection by winning a coin toss with the Chicago Bears. Cornerback Mel Blount was added in the third round that year, followed by linebacker Jack Ham in 1971 and running back Franco Harris in 1972. In all, Noll drafted 10 players who are now enshrined in the Hall of Fame including three in his first 20 picks and four of his first 38.

Two significant changes took place in 1970. The Steelers moved from the NFL Century Division to the AFC Central with the merger of the American Football League and the NFL. The Steelers also moved into a new home as Three Rivers Stadium opened. Previously, the Steelers had played home games at Forbes Field from 1933-57 and at both Forbes Field and Pitt Stadium from 1958-63. From 1964-69, the Steelers played at Pitt Stadium until Three Rivers opened in 1970.

Gradual improvement in the early 1970s resulted in the team's first division title in 1972 with an 11-3 record. In the first playoff game at Three Rivers, the Steelers defeated the Oakland Raiders 13-7 with Franco Harris' "Immaculate Reception" in the final minute. Despite a 21-17 loss the following week to the undefeated Miami Dolphins, the Steelers had reached a new plateau.

It took 40 years for the Steelers to finally win their first division title, but over the next decade they achieved a level of success unprecedented in professional football.

In 1973, the Steelers won a wild card playoff berth with a 10-4 record. Oakland avenged their loss from the previous year, however, with a 33-14 defeat of the Steelers in the playoffs.

January 29, 1974 – The Steelers select future Hall of Famers Lynn Swann (first round), Jack Lambert (second), John Stallworth (fourth) and Mike Webster (fifth) in the NFL Draft. Many consider it the best draft in NFL history. Following the draft, the Steelers also signed free agent Donnie Shell, who was elected into the Hall of Fame in 2020.

The Steelers won their first of six consecutive AFC Central titles in 1974 and marched past Buffalo (32-14) and Oakland (24-13) en route to their first Super Bowl appearance in Super Bowl IX. The fierce Pittsburgh defense led the way to a 16-6 victory over the Minnesota Vikings, and Art Rooney was presented the Vince Lombardi Trophy for the first time.

In 1975, the Steelers won 11 straight games to finish 12-2 and claimed their second-consecutive division crown. After defeating Baltimore (28-10) and Oakland (16-10) in the playoffs, the Steelers became the third team in NFL history, joining Green Bay and Miami, to win back-to-back Super Bowls with a 21-17 defeat of the Dallas Cowboys in Super Bowl X.

The 1976 Steelers struggled to a 1-4 start before reeling off nine straight victories, including five shutouts, to win the division with a 10-4 mark. They defeated Baltimore 40-14 in the playoffs, but lost to Oakland 24-7 after both starting running backs, Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier, were injured. The following year, the Steelers dropped a 34-21 decision to Denver in the first round of the playoffs after posting a 9-5 regular-season record.

In 1978, the Steelers made history after a league-best 14-2 regular season and playoff wins versus Denver (33-10) and Houston (34-5). Their 35-31 Super Bowl XIII win versus Dallas made the Steelers the first team to win three Super Bowls.

Yet another standard was set the following year when the 1979 Steelers defeated the Los Angeles Rams 31-19 in Super Bowl XIV to make them the first team in history to win four Super Bowls and the only team to win back-to-back Super Bowls twice. The Super Bowl victory followed a 12-4 regular-season record and playoff wins versus Miami (34-14) and Houston (27-13). With six consecutive AFC Central crowns, eight straight years of playoff appearances and four Super Bowl championships, the Steelers were tagged the "Team of the Decade" for the 1970s.

1980s As the 1980s opened, the Steelers stumbled, failing to make the playoffs in 1980 and 1981 with records of 9-7 and 8-8.

In 1982, the Steelers celebrated the team's 50th anniversary by qualifying for the playoffs with a 6-3 finish in a strike-interrupted season. During the season, an anniversary banquet was held to commemorate the team's first 50 seasons and to honor the Steelers' all-time team as selected by fan voting. Thousands of fans were attracted to Pittsburgh for a week of activities and exhibits before the anniversary season was ended by San Diego's 31-28 win in the playoffs. This would be the last playoff game at Three Rivers Stadium until the 1992 season, a span of 10 years.

The 1983 Steelers won their eighth division title with a 10-6 record, but fell in the postseason, 38-10, to the Los Angeles Raiders. The following year, the Steelers won their ninth division crown and the team advanced to the AFC Championship game with a 24-17 playoff win at Denver. A 45-28 loss to Miami in the AFC Championship game prevented the Steelers from a fifth Super Bowl appearance.

The Steelers' streak of 13 consecutive non-losing seasons came to an end in 1985 with a 7-9 finish, followed by a 6-10 record in 1986. Playoff hopes remained alive in 1987 until the Steelers lost their last two games to finish 8-7 during the strike-shortened season.

In 1988, the team suffered through its worst campaign in 19 years with a 5-11 record. The next season got off to a similar start with losses of 51-0 and 41-10 in the first two games. But the young team fought back to finish 9-7 and earn a wild card playoff berth on the season's final weekend. An exciting 26-23 overtime playoff win in Houston was followed by a heartbreaking 24-23 divisional playoff loss at Denver in which the Steelers led until the final minutes.

STEELERS HISTORY

In 1992, 34-year-old Bill Cowher became the National Football League's youngest head coach at the time. In his first season, the Steelers won the AFC Central division crown for the first time since 1984.

AP/Rusty Kennedy

1990s A 9-7 finish in 1990 left the Steelers in a three-way tie for the AFC Central lead, but they were eliminated from playoff contention by a 2-4 division record. The 1991 team finished second in the division despite a 7-9 record, winning the last two games under Noll at home against the Cincinnati Bengals and Cleveland Browns.

On December 26, 1991, Noll announced his retirement from football after 39 consecutive seasons, the last 23 as the Steelers' head coach, which made him one of only four men to coach the same team for 23 consecutive years. He left as the fifth-winningest coach in NFL history with an overall record of 209-156-1, and as the only coach to win four Super Bowls. Noll was rewarded in 1993 with his election to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility.

A new era began in 1992 with the retirement of Noll and the arrival of 34-year-old Bill Cowher, the National Football League's youngest head coach at the time he assumed control. In the first season of the new era, the Steelers won the AFC Central division crown for the first time since 1984 with an 11-5 record. While the team enjoyed new-found success, Cowher was recognized by the Associated Press as the NFL's Coach of the Year and six Steelers were selected to the Pro Bowl, the most in more than a decade.

Under Cowher, the Steelers became the first AFC team since the 1970 merger to claim its 10th division title. Their 11-5 record equaled the best in the conference and gave the Steelers home field advantage throughout the playoffs. However, in the first postseason game at Three Rivers Stadium in exactly 10 years, the Steelers were defeated by eventual AFC Champion Buffalo, 24-3.

In 1993, the Steelers earned a wild card playoff berth, marking their first consecutive playoff appearances since the 1983-84 seasons. A 9-7 record was good for second place in the division, but the season ended in a 27-24 overtime loss at Kansas City in an AFC Wild Card game.

The 1994 Steelers won seven of their final eight regular-season games for their strongest finish since 1978. They captured their second division title in three years with an AFC-best 12-4 record. After a 29-9 victory over the Cleveland Browns in the first round of the playoffs, Pittsburgh hosted its first AFC Championship game since 1979. The game went down to the wire and the Steelers lost to the San Diego Chargers 17-13.

At 38, Bill Cowher became the youngest head coach to lead his team to a Super Bowl appearance in 1995. Along the way, Cowher's team captured its third AFC Central division title in four years, made its fourth straight playoff appearance and won the Steelers' first AFC title since 1979. After a first-round bye, they defeated the Buffalo Bills (40-21) and the Indianapolis Colts (20-16), before losing to the Dallas Cowboys 27-17 in Super Bowl XXX in Tempe, Ariz.

In 1996, the Steelers finished 10-6 and earned their fifth consecutive trip to the playoffs. Cowher ended the season with 57 career victories, ranking him as the second-winningest coach in team history, behind his predecessor Noll.

The Steelers captured their fourth consecutive AFC Central title in 1997 while posting an 11-5 record. They were one play away from earning their sixth Super Bowl appearance but lost to Denver 24-21 in the AFC Championship game.

In 1998, the Steelers finished a disappointing 7-9, losing their last five regular-season games and missing the playoffs for the first time under Cowher.

The Steelers suffered their second consecutive losing season in 1999, when their record fell to 6-10.

The 1984 Steelers won their ninth division title with a 9-7 record.

2000s After starting the 2000 season with an 0-3 record, the Steelers rebounded to finish the year at 9-7 and barely missed the playoffs.

However, 2000 will be remembered most for being the final season for the Steelers at Three Rivers Stadium. The Steelers were 4-4 at home during their final season, including victories in four of their final six home games. The Steelers won their final game at Three Rivers, 24-3, against the Washington Football Team on Dec. 16.

The Steelers finished 31 seasons at Three Rivers Stadium (1970-2000) with a 182-72 home record, including the postseason. The Steelers recorded their largest regular-season home attendance figures (440,428) since 1998 in the final season, including a season-high 58,183 fans during the final game in stadium history.

The Steelers began a new era in team history in 2001 with the opening of their new stadium, Heinz Field. The Steelers posted an AFC-best 13-3 regular-season record, including a 7-1 mark at home, and advanced to the AFC Championship Game.

The inaugural game was originally scheduled to be a nationally televised Sunday Night game on Sept. 16. However, the September 11 terrorist attacks on America forced the NFL to postpone all games that weekend — which were eventually rescheduled for the end of the season. As a result, the Steelers opened the stadium on Sunday, Oct. 7 with a 16-7 win against the Cincinnati Bengals.

The Steelers defeated the defending Super Bowl Champion Baltimore Ravens 27-10 in the AFC Divisional Playoffs, in the first-ever postseason game played at Heinz Field. However, they suffered a disappointing 24-17 loss at home in the AFC Championship Game to the eventual Super Bowl Champion New England Patriots.

After an 0-2 start in 2002, the Steelers rallied to make the playoffs for the second consecutive season. However, the team's Super Bowl hopes ended when they lost 34-31 in overtime to the Tennessee Titans on the road.

The Steelers began the 2003 season with a 34-15 victory against AFC North rival Baltimore Ravens. However, the team never regained that magic and finished the year with a 6-10 record and missed the playoffs for the first time in three seasons.

The Steelers set a team record in 2004 by becoming the first AFC team to win 15 games (15-1) in the regular season. They ultimately advanced to the AFC Championship Game where they lost to the New England Patriots 41-27. Nine Steelers were selected to play in the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl, the team's most since the 1979 season.

Pittsburgh found itself sitting at 7-5 after 12 games in 2005, but rallied to win its final four regular-season games to earn the AFC's sixth seed in the playoffs. The Steelers then won an unprecedented three straight road playoff games to gain a berth in Super Bowl XL in Detroit versus the Seattle Seahawks.

Ward also hauled in a game-clinching 43-yard TD pass from Antwaan Randle El on a gadget play midway through the fourth quarter.

The 2006 season saw the Bill Cowher era come to an end with the Steelers finishing the season winning six of their final eight games to post an 8-8 record on the year.

On January 5, 2007, Bill Cowher resigned as Steelers head coach with a 161-99-1 overall record, second-best in team history.

The Steelers hired 34-year old Mike Tomlin as the team's head coach on January 22, 2007, becoming the NFL's youngest head coach at the time.

Tomlin became the second first-year coach in team history to make the playoffs in 2007. The Steelers finished with a 10-6 overall record and won the AFC North division title.

STEELERS HISTORY

▼ Wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named MVP after hauling in the game-winning six-yard touchdown pass from Ben Roethlisberger with 35 seconds remaining in regulation.

Tomlin became the first coach in franchise history to win a division title in each of his first two seasons when the Steelers captured their second consecutive AFC North division title with a 12-4 record in 2008. They went on to defeat the San Diego Chargers and Baltimore Ravens to gain a berth in Super Bowl XLIII in Tampa, Fla. versus the Arizona Cardinals.

The Steelers became the first NFL franchise to capture six Super Bowl titles when they defeated the Cardinals 27-23. With the victory, Tomlin became the youngest coach to win a Super Bowl in NFL history (36 years, 323 days). Wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named MVP after hauling in the game-winning six-yard touchdown pass from Ben Roethlisberger with 35 seconds remaining in regulation.

2010s The Steelers added to their legacy, making it all the way to Super Bowl XLV after a 12-4 record during the 2010 season. The team could not overcome an early 18-point deficit and fell to the Green Bay Packers 31-25. Despite the loss, the Steelers still are tied for the NFL record for most Super Bowl victories with six (New England Patriots).

Pittsburgh followed up the Super Bowl appearance with another 12-win season in 2011. The Steelers overcame injuries to key players on both sides of the ball to earn their 26th playoff berth since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. The 12 victories marked only the second time in team history that Pittsburgh recorded back-to-back regular seasons with at least 12 victories (1978-79). The Steelers again showcased one of the league's best defenses, leading the NFL in pass defense and being the only team to register two shutouts. Hines Ward became the eighth player in NFL history to record at least 1,000 receptions and 12,000 receiving yards and Antonio Brown became the first player in NFL history with at least 1,000 receiving yards and 1,000 return yards in the same season.

After back-to-back 8-8 seasons in 2012 and 2013, Pittsburgh returned to the playoffs in 2014. The Steelers finished with an 11-5 record and claimed the AFC North Division Championship, the team's 21st division title since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger, which was tops in the NFL in that span. Pittsburgh had an offensive output for the ages in 2014 as the offense set numerous single-season team records, including total points (436), total net yards (6,577), passing yards per games (301.6), total first downs (379) and individual 100-yard receiving games (12).

The team also donned a CHN commemorative patch in honor of the late Chuck Noll during the 2014 season. The team also retired Joe Greene's No. 75, all during its year of celebrating the team's 40th anniversary of its first championship with a uniform patch in 2014.

Pittsburgh reached the divisional round of the playoffs in 2015. The Steelers went 10-6, upended the AFC North champions Cincinnati in the Wild Card round of the playoffs and lost to eventual Super Bowl champion Denver, 23-16.

The Steelers earned the division title for the 24th time since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger – the most division crowns by an NFL team in that span.

Since the AFC North was adopted after the restructuring of the 2002 NFL season when the League realigned divisions after expanding to 32 teams, Mike Tomlin has won the division seven times (2007, 2008, 2010, 2014, 2016, 2017 and 2020). No other head coach has won the AFC North more than six times (John Harbaugh). Pittsburgh's nine AFC North titles nearly equal the combined total from the rest of the division since 2002.

THE birth of the towel 1975

Origins of an Icon

During the 1975 playoffs, Steelers radio color commentator Myron Cope sparked fan excitement by urging them to wave gold or yellow towels at the first playoff game. The Terrible Towel debuted on December 27, 1975, during the Steelers' 28-10 AFC Divisional win over Baltimore, setting the stage for their 21-17 Super Bowl X victory over Dallas.

The Temble Towel™

If you have ever been to a Steelers game, at home or on the road, you have seen its beauty waving in the wind, whipping around with excitement, firing up a team and a fanbase like nothing else can.

It's magical. It's mystical. Quite simply, it's a thing of beauty. It's the Temble Towel. A symbol of Steelers Nation.

And now, it's 50 years old.

THE TERRIBLE TOWEL IS POISED TO STRIKE

BY TINGSLA WARDEN | STYLERS.COM

The T-shirt, found at yet another witness's address, is lined a size too small. The towel is a genuine towel that fits. The towel has no distinguishable prints and comes remarkably close to the blue-green, camouflage color noted by Many have told me the Terrible Tugel brought them great fortune, but I can't guarantee that sort of thing happens. The Shogun, after all, and the Twelve, choose winners.

Q: At the end, the symbol of the Terrible Thing will serve as a reminder of your having been a girl of the Glorious Oystery. And if a cyclone just might happen to you, so worth the bother!

- Wojan Czapka,
creator of the Tamilu Thuvai

"For Steven here, the Terrible Trawl is a low effort," said running back Jerome Branch, who scored a Terrible Trawl during the 2016 Gator Bowl. "The Terrible Trawl is a part of our life. It's just an animal we are trained. That's what it takes to be a player, we trained to it, which has been good, and we appreciate the Terrible Trawl. We love it."

When we saw the lower seating, it seemed it was great! I said, "It's OK. When you see it going, you know it was gonna be OK." Pittsburgh, and everything on the road, and we had to go to work. Every stadium we went into, and the team still goes in, you see the lower seating. That was our battle, OK?

WFACTV and Radio personality, who created the series, with a more plus in Chevrolet later after a meeting with Tom Rhine, who was the general manager of WME Radio at the time and thought they could use a Chevrolet in radio spots.

"The first thing Morris came up with was any rag, a women rag, a fish food, a towel, or anything that you could hope," asked Don Gorbis, the Morris Shalton director of public relations. "Morris had that started. It was my first, a rag, it didn't sell, took like three days, you wanted to keep. And he said I really say it that to be proud of black, just anything. But then obviously, said it took four, the price moved in."

Before it took hold, Dope took the idea into the Elavem lockout room, sharing his thoughts with the players for the new idea. They didn't exactly embrace it.

"When he took it into the dressing room to talk to players about it, Andy Wallace said we're not a gimmick team," said Gooden. "I don't like the idea."

"Nothing could shake Meron once he decided he was going to do something. So, the next game was a playoff game with the Celts. And in that game, Andy Rutledge returned as a replacement for a franchise. Meron jumped on this saying he was paid away by the Celtics. I was on his back ever. So that was the start of it, and then it just goes from there. From a gimmick, it became something that was ingrained here."

And it appeared to work, as the Steelers defeated the Colts, 28-10, in advance to the AFC Championship game and eventually with Super Bowl X.

"I remember Myron going to the kitchen and asking all of us what we thought about it, and it being called a 'Tortoise Trust,'" said Hall of Fame cornerback Bill Brown, who played on the Steelers four Super Bowl teams in the 1970s. "I remember Andy Russell telling the story about Myron coming in here, and Andy would say, 'Myron, what are you talking about?' Andy was saying there didn't make sense."

And now both are here, all laid in an NFL timepiece, that's one of the things we're amazed for, the Terrells. It was a decade of prison, along with a lot of jail-bitten parole talk about the Steelers and the Steelers fans, they can't talk about that without mentioning the Terrells. Thanks, Mr. it's really awarded."

So, the Swedes go in with plenty of officials and lots of weapons, and a tidal wave broke to these "74 and 75 teams," said Cope naming the programs themselves. "That's the models have the future. It was Dec. 27, 1976, at divisional playoff game against the Minnesota Colts at Trans World Stadium when the Terriers made their debut. And at that time, yep, I was still toward Baltimore town, whatever people had had more either place or not. They could have.

There was one person in particular with a Terrible Towel who sent the home-temper into a frenzy.

Lynn Swann.

At Swann, stood on the field waiting for pregame introductions, he had a towel in his hand. He didn't know yet what he planned to do with it, it's simply where it ended up nearby.

And this, he knew. He wanted to wave it. And he wasn't alone.

"I had this towel in my hand, and they were introducing the offense, and I was just looking the towel in my hand in kind of a nervous habit," said Swann. "They're getting ready to introduce me and that the towel, and I saw people start kind of standing up and the whole field. So I started waving the towel, just feeling it around over my head. All of a sudden everybody in the stadium was looking up saying that Terrible Towel."

"I ran out on the field, and I remember jumping up in the air and all of a sudden the excitement of playoff football hit. And we were ready to play this football game."

"Byron Cope came in the week later and told me. He said that was the beginning of the Terrible Towel. He said the first time I came out and waved the Terrible Towel and got the fans going. And was the beginning of the Terrible Towel being a symbol for the Pittsburgh Steelers as we traveled around and played in other cities."

While the towel started with fans simply holding something out of their own closet to wave, it grew into something much larger. An official Terrible Towel.

was created in the late 1970s, and it instantly became a staple in the home of every Steeler fan.

Its sales were increasing, Cope worked to do something special. He wanted the towel to benefit others.

It was in 1998 that Cope arranged for the Steelers fans to buy the Terrible Towel to go to Markey Allegheny Valley School (AVS), to benefit individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities who are supported by AVS, including its members. Denny, who had been enrolled there for years, had been that much for the year the towel had, the school has received over $9.5 million from its fully licensed products, used for supplies, services and improvements to the facility. Among the projects the funds have benefited is opening a new Member AVS school, as well as new state-of-the-art Markey AVS homes and campus, night-time renovations on patios and decks, inside landscaping in buildings and bathroom and much more.

"This Terrible Towel is unique," said Steve Engh, Jr., Regional Executive Director for Markey AVS. "Not just the size of the donations and what we're able to pay for on our staff, but also the fact that it's Pittsburgh community and to our mission and the importance of our mission to Markey Cope."

"Being part of the Terrible Towel is such a way that not only benefits us financially, but it really goes on to the entire Pittsburgh community. That entire region is tied to the Terrible Towel. The legacy of Markey Cope and the Steelers is absolutely everywhere with truly throughout the world. You hear about Steeler fans, and we see Terrible Towels waving all over the world, as it really is such a huge part of us in the community of each and every fan here."

"I don't ever know how to begin to thank you. Thank you and grateful we are that we can continue our mission because of donations like we get from the Terrible Towel. Being able to enhance our programs and enhance the lives of the individuals that we care for is truly a gift and there is no greater gift than the Pittsburgh region, the Steelers and the legacy that's created in all of that really benefits us every day."

While the Terrible Towel will forever be at its heart in the profession, there is never a bad time to get it ready to work. Whether it's the pregame, regular season or postseason, waving the Terrible Towel during the game keeps energy and excitement to the crowd, and equally as playful throughout the years.

"It gave you a sense of confidence that the fans are here, our family is here," said former running back Willie Parker. "Even though your immediate family might not have been at the game, knowing you were there with Terrible Towels waving, it was like our family was there. It's time to go perform, it's time to put out for your job."

"When we played at home the crowd was there. When we played on the road, the crowd was there. We would go out on the field and see the towels, and we would think it's like a home game. Opposing teams tried to keep the Terrible Towel away from their stadium, they tried to cut connections to people with it. And we're not. But they couldn't keep them away. How do you, you will see that Terrible Towel waving. It's something my whole childhood playing for the Steelers."

James Farner spent five seasons with the New York Jets before signing with the Steelers as an unrestricted free agent in 2002. He knew what it was like to play against the Steelers at home with the towel waving and was thrilled when he found himself on the other side of it.

"I love it. I love the towel go when I look back for game," said Farner. "We know every time we have the towels waving we had the support of Steeler Nation. We know we had fans behind us, waving on the way, waving on the way to the game."

"The Terrible Towel is part of the culture of the Steelers organization. We need to live up to that and do the best we can to make all those fans waving the towel happy and make them proud."

There are fans who have had to duplicate the magic of the Terrible Towel handing out their version to fans when the Steeler season player or other away.

But no matter how, a sea of gold always prevails because while some fans have to hold out towels as a precursor to their fans. Skolers fans own Terrible Towels, making owning multiple ones, and they wear (some have) without them.

"It's really unique and special," said former tight end Heath Miller. "When the Steelers first home playoff games and you see the excitement of the city and they walk out of that tunnel and just see the sea of gold towels flying around, it gives me chills to this day to think about it. It's an amazing feeling to know the whole city is behind you. As Steelers players, we took a lot of pride in trying to make the city proud."

"And the fact that it goes to a good cause, which is back into the community, that speaks to the Steelers in general and the Pittsburgh culture."

Throughout the years in the NFL, there aren't many "givebacks" that have lasted 50 years.

And the reason the Terrible Towel lasted, despite the early doubts of Andy Russell, is because it was a good idea.

It was a pattern.

"People always ask me what my favorite moment was playing for the Steelers," said Hall of Fame guard Alan Faneca. "One of my favorite moments was my first playoff game at Heinz Field and they were announcing the offense. Normally, when you call my name, I'm ready to go play football. I'm coming out normally."

"This was my first playoff game. The place was going nuts. Literally nuts. I just stood there. I could see inside the stadium every single Terrible Towel was in the air swirling. And you could just feel the place in your chest. The place was going so crazy."

"I stood there for a second, and I pavel do that. I was thinking, this is what I'm made for. This is what I'm here for. And that's really one of my favorite moments. Besides winning the Super Bowl, it was just a surreal moment, and the Terrible Towel was a huge part of it."

'O mama I'm in fear for my life from the long arm of the law.'

The second three words start to flare through the speakers at Acrisure Stadium, and every second battles with the scoreboard goes dark, something mystical happens.

Terrible Towels start waving without prompting, without any action even happening on the field. They continue to swing around in unison, every fan standing and slowly waving their towel.

Until the host of "Renegade" dringles and they exhale.

"Before that scream in Renegade, it's like seeing the smoke before the fire and it just kind of prepares you for the moment," said defensive tackle Cameron Heyward.

As players stand on the sidelines, on the field, watching and doing their part to add to the hype, they too are aroused.

"The towel really picks me up, especially in the fourth quarter when Renegade is playing," said linebacker Alex Highsmith. "All the towels are flying around the stadium. It's just truly a feeling like no other. Waving those towels every single game, coming out in the stadium especially in the fourth quarter. It just brings a lot of energy for us."

For Joey Porter Jr., he not only gets to see towels when he is playing, but he grew up seeing the towel while sitting on the bench. Joey Porter Sr., while he played for the Steelers.

"It brings a lot of memories back from my dad playing and just the history around it," said Porter. "It's really a crowd booster. It's an energy booster for everybody."

"I love seeing the Terrible Towels waving. That's Steelers history. I've never watched when I see the Terrible Towels when some of the away games. But fans always make our away games turn into home games, so I just love when they bring that support."

Like many players before him, Heyward has seen other talents try to duplicate the Terrible Towel to take away its magic on the road.

But he knows it will never work because Steelers Nation is too strong and the towel is too powerful.

"It's really unbelievable because it can't be duplicated," said Heyward. "Everybody tries to, but nobody does it right. To be inspired by history cups and to be able to do the way it did, where everybody's feeling it and everybody's locked in and knows there's an energy that comes along with it. It just makes it something special."

"The Terrible Towel is something special."

MIKE TOMLIN

Mike Tomlin has earned the NFL's head coach in Pittsburgh Steelers history on January 22, 2020, at the age of 54. Tomlin became only the third head coach hired by the Steelers since 1960.

In his 20 seasons as head coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Tomlin has accomplished many things that have never been done by the team's previous history. A Steelers fanbase for stability at the head coaching position, Tomlin ranks among the league's longest-tenured active head coaches entering his 1825 games.

Tomlin became the youngest head coach in NFL history to fifth coach to lead a Super Bowl when he led the Steelers to a 27-23 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Super Bowl XLIII (28 years, 323 days), a record that held for 67 years, followed by 36 as Mike in Super Bowl XL (34 years, 28 days). By winning the Super Bowl in only his second season as a head coach, he also became the third to win a Super Bowl title in his first season.

During his head coaching tenure in Cincinnati, Tomlin has led the Bengals to seven AFC South titles, most recently in 2020, and has guided the Steelers to the playoffs 12 times, including two trips to the Super Bowl (XLIII and XLV). Tomlin has won at least five home games in 11 of the first 14 years, including six in 2021. In his 20 seasons, he has never had a losing record.

Tomlin is the only head coach in League history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 15 consecutive winning seasons. He has won five Steelers for a 100-win career record in which he has 12 wins in 14 head seasons. That is tied for the second-highest number of 100-win seasons by a head coach in NFL history.

Tomlin has led a total of 12 seasons in the NFL's American Football Conference (AFC) South division, including five Super Bowl appearances. He was named Pro Bowl coach for the 2022 season. Additionally, Tomlin was recognized by Cricket as the Best Coach in the NFL's American Football Conference in March 2022.

Tomlin is just the eighth coach in NFL history to win a Super Bowl within his first two seasons as head coach. He is the only head coach in Steelers history to lead the team to four Super Bowls in his first two seasons as the head, including an immediate win in the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XLIII. He is one of only two Steelers head coaches to win three division titles in his first two seasons.

Tomlin has led Pittsburgh to a 122-114-2 record in the regular season since becoming the team's head coach in 2007. The second best record in the NFL during that time span, behind only Andy Reid, the 120-114-2 regular season record (27) is the best. After his first season, Tomlin's 2007 regular season record and the second among active NFL head coaches, and 2008-09 in League history. Tomlin's 2021 regular season win percentage is the 13th highest in NFL history (minimum 130 games).

Tomlin's 182 regular season wins are the second most in a coach's first 10 seasons, behind only 207 regular season wins, which percentage is the 10th best by a head coach in his first 10 career seasons.

2025 CAPTAINS

CAMERON HEYWARD 2015-25

T.J. WATT 2020, 2022-25

AARON RODGERS 2025

MILES KILGORE 2022-25

The Steelers selected four players to serve as team captains for the 2025 season through a vote of their teammates.

Quarterback Aaron Rodgers will serve as the offensive captain, defensive tackle Cameron Heyward and linebacker T.J. Watt will serve as the defensive captains, and safety Miles Kilgore will serve as the special teams captain.

This marks Heyward's eleventh consecutive year as a captain (2015-25) and the fifth time for Watt who was selected as a captain in 2020 and 2022 through 2025. This is Kilgore's fourth time as a captain for the Steelers.

(The following list contains the Steelers' team captains who have been selected since the first season that the Steelers have a roster (since 1936).)

FORGING PITTSBURGH'S FUTURE LEADERS

Steelers STEM empowers students to explore the fields of Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math through engaging, hands-on experiences. Since 2019, we've impacted over 24,000 students across Western Pennsylvania. Scan the QR code to see how we're forging the next generation of innovators.

STIRRED UP, TOGETHER

COOKING, LIKE SOCIAL CHANGE, IS AN IMPERFECT ART

Our justice system can be very messy, especially when it comes to the way it works (or doesn't) for young people.

Know what it takes to get at-risk youth on a more employable, more profitable, more successful path forward? A community that actively works to give them back their dreams.

That's what we're doing here. That's what you're doing there. So get stirred up with us and together we can make some change.

Inspire Change Changemaker Award

The NFL Inspire Change Changemaker Award recognizes an individual from every NFL city who is making a difference in their community through social justice work, either individually or as part of a nonprofit organization through education, economic advancement, police-community relations, and criminal justice reform. This year, Donny Madison surprised Tim Smith, CEO and founder of Center of Life in Pittsburgh's Hillside, as his selection for the Steelers 2025 Inspire Change Changemaker Award recipient. Smith has contributed and volunteered within the community since the 1980s, connecting with kids and families to create Center of Life, which was founded in 2001. Center of Life offers numerous programs, including after-school and out-of-school programs and enrichment in music and art. He will receive a $10,000 donation courtesy of the NFL Foundation for Center of Life for his impact on the community.

The Pittsburgh Steelers are proud to be a part of the Western Pennsylvania community.

The community living commitment to this organization holds the 2025 award. From J. Russell Schott to the team, current President Art Rooney III and Andy Rooney of the most active NFL owners and one of Pittsburgh's most beloved individuals in the city, all will be honored for their commitment to the community.

Steelers players, coaches and front office staff are involved in social justice, economic advancement, youth and women's programs, and disaster and community groups. It's our way of giving back to the community that has given us so much.

Alex Highsmith Walter Payton Man of the Year Nomination

The NFL presents the Walter Payton Man of the Year Award each year to recognize a player's exceptional off-the-field community service, along with their on-field excellence and professionalism on the field. Through the Alex Highsmith Family Foundation, Highsmith has made a lasting impact in the community by hosting annual youth football camps, Back-to-School events, and more. Through his work, he has created opportunities that support local youth in underserved communities. Highsmith was presented with the nomination by Charlie Stutz, alongside his family.

Kuntz4Kids Holiday Events

Jeremiah's Flea Shopping Trip

Coach Kuntz and his foundation, Kuntz 4 Kids, partnered with Jeremiah's Flea and Toys for Pittsburgh Kids to send six single mothers and a shopping trip for buy necessities for them and their families. He also surprised the children with gifts and cakes for the holidays.

Toy Distribution

The following week, Kuntz partnered again with Toys for Pittsburgh Kids to provide toys for all of the students at Graceview Pre-K 4-5 in celebration of the holiday season.

Dinner with Foster Love Project

To show our love for the holidays, Kuntz joined by some of his teammates, raised $0 from Foster Love Project in a fun night out at Dave & Buster's. He also surprised them with gift cards and gift cards for them to go shopping for the holidays.

Huddle for the Holidays

The Steelers partnered with Clinic of Hope for the 7th annual Huddle for the Holidays event at Acrisure Stadium. Over 500 community members attended the event to kick off the holiday season. Attendees were able to pick out toys, receive winter gear, books, blankets, and more from players.

Running Backs Event

Tracy Smith was joined by the running back teammates Rashard Lewis and Justice Brown for their youth Varsity Football Pittsburgh for a night out of Dave & Buster's. The players got to spend time with the kids playing games, taking photos, and having fun.

Holiday Distribution with Giant Eagle

Matt Seiel, Jylia Wetscher, Doreen Hardy, Kona' Munga, and Tyler Staugh joined Giant Eagle and the Best of the Patch Foundation for a holiday food distribution. Players helped pack and distribute groceries to families in the community to support them this holiday season.

Jonnu Smith Holiday Shopping Trip

SEASON TICKET HOLDER OF THE GAME

SHARON PRZYBYSZ

HOMETOWN: Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania
SEASON TICKET HOLDER SINCE: 2014

Sharon Przybysz was nominated to be Season Ticket Holder of the Game because:

For more than a decade, Sharon has embodied what it means to be part of Steelers Nation. For over 10 years, game days have not just been events on a calendar. They've also been traditions for her and her family. Especially with her mother who she takes to every game. Her dedication doesn't stop at the stadium gates, as no matter where she is, food may lead. Sharon always makes sure her Terrible Towel comes along. On vacations near and far, her towel is proudly displayed, representing the Steelers and the city of Pittsburgh wherever she goes. It's a simple gesture, but one that speaks volumes about her passion. We think Sharon is her unwavering support, and we are thrilled to honor her today as our Season Ticket Holder of the Game!

The Pittsburgh Steelers Hall of Honor, established with its inaugural class of 27 members in 2017, is comprised of former players, coaches and front office personnel who were integral in creating and sustaining the franchise's success dating back to when the team was founded in 1933.

Each Hall of Honor inductee received a replica of the steel steel football that was given to Steelers founder Art Rooney Sr. by the United States Steel Corporation and United Steel Workers in 1992 to commemorate the team's 60th season. The footballs are on display in the Steelers Hall of Honor Museum located in Acrisure Stadium, which provides opportunities for fans to learn more about the franchise, view rare artifacts preserved by the team, and relive the biggest moments and people in Steelers history.
